

Soviets Reported Continuing Offensive Buildup in Cuba

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT
WASHINGTON — (Special) — President Kennedy's soothing claim of the defensive nature of the Russian military buildup in Cuba is flatly contradicted by a Naval Intelligence estimate.

House, the alarming ONI estimate frankly reports: "Retention of these (Soviet) military units in Cuba after the withdrawal of MRBMs (medium range ballistic missiles) would indicate that Moscow has not abandoned the concept of developing Cuba as a strategic Soviet military base."

This intelligence report, based on the Navy's close surveillance of Cuba from the air, the sea, and the Guantanamo Naval Base, warns of the offensive nature of the Russian military construction at Holguin, in Eastern Cuba, stating: "Soviet units are all in areas containing sensitive military installations of prime interest to the Soviets. Three are near the former offensive missile bases, and the fourth is adjacent to the strategically significant airfield at Holguin in Eastern Cuba. "Runways over 10,000 feet long and underground hangars and storage facilities are being built at this field, suggesting the Soviets planned to base long-range aviation bombers and store nuclear weapons there." In striking contrast to Defense Secretary Robert McNamara's disclaimer that "we do not know why Soviet combat troops are in Cuba," the Navy report clearly outlines the sinister mission of these units.

"The introduction into Cuba of Soviet ground combat forces is consistent with a capability not only to defend their sensitive installations against invasion, but also to secure them against 'counter-revolutionary' activity," according to the Navy. Pointing out the strategic locations of the four "elite" Soviet motorized units on the island, the report contends: "Their presence also provides the Soviets a potent source of influence on the internal Cuban scene."

THE MISSILE MYSTERY — Significantly, the Navy report highlights in minute detail the existing gap between the supporting Russian missile equipment that was photographed on the island and what actually was observed on Soviet ships leaving Cuba. For example: In the case of the IRBM launch rings, which are absolutely necessary for the actual firing of the missiles, the

$1.9 Million Spent in County On Public Welfare Assistance

A total of $1.9 million was spent in El Paso County in 1962 on public welfare assistance, according to a report released Monday by Vard V. Gray, county welfare director. The amount does not include old age pension money.

Approximately 25 cents of every welfare dollar spent last year went for medical care, according to the report. The county spent $514,927 for medical care of which $431,074 represented county funds with the state providing the balance of the money.

A monthly average of 834 persons received county hospitalization in 1962 and the average length of stay in the hospital was 7.78 days at a per diem cost of $33.91.

Gray said an urgent need is to work out a more satisfactory arrangement for pediatric care so that children can be medically cleared and placed more quickly in adoptive homes.

"At the present time," he said, "these children are kept in boarding homes at county expense from two to three months longer than they should be."

Gray said another need is to develop an improved plan regarding patients released from the state hospital in Pueblo who need the assistance of the welfare department.

A state hospital representative is expected to meet Wednesday with the welfare department's supervisory staff to discuss the plan.

Ethics Code Adopted by City Council

City Council today approved by a 5 to 3 vote an ordinance adopting a Code of Ethics for Colorado Springs officials and employees, and members of city boards and commissions.

Voting to adopt the code, recommended to the council by Councilman Robert Johnson, were Councilmen Carl Decker, Harold Hawks, Harry Hoth, Johnson, and Mayor William Henderson. Voting against the code's adoption were Councilmen William Roe, Hugh Weed and Melvin Olsen.

A code of ethics drafted previously by a committee appointed by Mayor Henderson had been twice defeated in council. The League of Women Voters has been seeking adoption of a similar code of ethics, but disagrees on the number of private citizens who would serve on the advisory board of ethics. The league wants a majority of local citizens on this board.

The code adopted today provides for a seven-member board of ethics consisting of mayor Henderson, City Manager John Biery, City Attorney Frederick Henry, the director of personnel, and three local citizens to be appointed by the mayor with the council's approval.

The board of ethics will authorize advisory opinions and provide penalties for the violation of the code which could include fines, not to exceed $100. (Turn to Page 4, Column 9)

Council Approves Contract With Golf Club Assn.

A three-year contract between the city of Colorado Springs and the Patty Jewett Golf Club Association was approved by City Council at this morning's meeting.

The contract, in effect from Jan. 1, 1963, to Dec. 31, 1965, will be signed by Mayor William Henderson, representing the city, and Fred Ragle, president of the golf club association.

The contract, which expired Dec. 31, 1962, was extended to Feb. 1, 1963, by the City Council pending a study of the golf club's operations by a council committee headed by Harold Hawks, and including Carl Decker and Harry Hoth. The councilmen met with the Patty Jewett Golf Club Association.

At today's meeting, the council members heard a report from the council committee which concluded the golf course "is in the best operation condition it has been in for many years and that it enjoys the reputation as being one of the best municipal golf courses in the west."

The report also commended members of the commission and the Patty Jewett Golf Club. (Turn to Page 4, Column 2)

Reapportionment Measure Signed By Gov. Love

DENVER (AP) — The voice of rural legislators in Colorado's General Assembly will be reduced sharply after the 1964 election under a reapportionment law signed by Gov. John A. Love Monday—the effect will be to reduce the number of rural legislators from 18 to 12.

Only 16 of the 65 seats in the next House of Representatives will go to areas where there are no large cities.

Also, the strength of city-wide political organizations will be reduced in areas such as Denver, where districting will take effect. No longer will a candidate run at large—he will represent only a specified area in the city. Denver will have 18 representative districts.

Similar districting takes place in other counties with more than one representative or senator, but the effect will not be so sharp as in Denver, which contains nearly a third of the state's residents.

In several instances incumbents will have to fight other legislators for a single seat.

Love signed the measure at 4:04 p.m. Monday, a week after final passage of the bill. He studied it during the weekend after getting a special opinion from Atty. Gen. Duke W. Dunbar that it met requirements set up by constitutional Amendment No. 7.

The amendment was adopted by voters last Nov. 6. It provided for 66 House seats, as near equal in population as possible, and for 20 Senate seats—an increase of four Senate districts were left as pre-existingly established with the new Senate going to Adams, Arapahoe, Boulder and Jefferson counties.

Subdistricts were set up within each county. (Turn to Page 4, Column 4)

Steel Industry Payroll Cost Hits New High

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel industry payroll costs hit a record $3.9 billion in 1962, up $107 million from 1961, the American Iron and Steel Institute reported today.

Production of ingots and steel for castings held about steady in the two years at just over 98 million tons.

The institute said total employment cost per hourly rated worker averaged $4.15 an hour, including $3.62 in direct wages and 53 cents an hour in pension, insurance and other fringe benefits.

The work week averaged 36 hours in both 1961 and 1962.

Swing Lounge Liquor License Is Suspended

Secretary of State Byron A. Anderson suspended the liquor license of the Swing Lounge, 3008 N. Nevada Ave., after a hearing in Denver Monday. The decision was reached a few minutes before noon and the suspension came into force immediately.

The Swing Lounge, formerly the House of Oscar, and owned by William W. Harfert, had its license revoked because testimony showed a 16-year old and a 17-year old girl had been employed there as exotic dancers and were served drinks with customers.

Harfert and five other people have already been fined on by County Court and accused of contributing to the delinquency of the girls. Arrangement date has been set for March 4.

The revocation of the liquor license is final for the year, but the girls are still in custody. (Turn to Page 4, Column 1)

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Jimmy (the Schnoz) Durante admitted today he had a birthday—his 70th—but I don't want everybody to know about it.

The veteran entertainer, interviewed at a hotel where he is appearing, described it this way: "Thank God I had another birthday. Da party? Sure. It was after da show an' they asked me if I didn't want to come in and have some tea. It was a big surprise to me. We had a wonderful time."

Power Lines Blown Down By High Wind in Region

Power lines were down in two places in high wind on the West Side Monday, causing electric lights to be out for short intervals of time and a man to be stuck between two stories in an elevator because of power failure.

The fire department received the first alarm at 5:51 p.m. Company 5 and car 14 went to 2729 W. Cucharras St. and stood by until utilities department linemen repaired the break. Just as the linemen were completing the work, at 6:05 p.m., the firemen were directed by radio to go to 3214 W. Pikes Peak Ave. where a line was down. They then stood by there until utility department linemen had repaired that break.

At 6:35 p.m. came the call to 3214 W. Pikes Peak Ave. where a line was down. They then stood by there until utility department linemen had repaired that break.

The fire department made a run to the building, where it was found that the elevator was stuck in two of the elevators. (Turn to Page 4, Column 1)

Grand Jury's First Session Slated Feb. 19

A grand jury was selected late Monday afternoon from a group of 20 citizens. The first session will be held in the County Court room of the El Paso District Court House, Tuesday, Feb. 19 at 7:30 p.m.

Thereafter meetings will be held every Tuesday and Thursday of each week at the same time and place.

During the selection District Judge David W. Enoch, District Attorney Don Higby and Deputy District Attorney B. J. O'Leary were present.

Judge Enoch explained that the grand jury has been called to satisfy statutory requirements and that it was mandatory each year. Outlining the duties of the jury he said it was there to investigate complaints from private citizens, but only complaints of a criminal nature. The grand jury has no jurisdiction whatsoever over civil matters.

The judge also stated that further duties were to investigate public buildings and any matters brought to their attention by the district attorney. A committee of three was appointed to examine the books of the county treasurer's office and another, also of three, the building inspection committee, to examine fire escapes and possible fire hazards in public buildings.

Judge Enoch told the jurors that they had a large responsibility which even surpassed that of public officials. He also added that all the sessions were secret with the press excluded and that citizens with legitimate complaints would come before the jury individually.

The work of the grand jury, he continued, only becomes public if a true bill or an indictment is returned.

District Attorney Don Higby said that anyone with a criminal complaint may come unannounced before the jury the night of Feb. 19, or the individual may call his office, 636-1671.

Summit Talks Proposed by Railroad Unions

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The heads of five railroad labor unions have suggested a "summit conference" approach to the three-year-old dispute over management plans for a streamlining operation that would slash more than 40,000 workers from their payrolls.

The labor leaders hinted also in letters to management representatives that failure to settle the dispute, which threatens to tie up virtually all rail traffic in the nation, could result in congressional intervention.

The carrier representatives broke off talks last June and initiated plans to put their work rules changes into effect. The carriers are maintaining a "wall of silence," the union leaders charged.

The letter proposed renewed negotiations leading to "what might be called a summit meeting," which would work out procedures for "a mutually satisfactory settlement."

J. E. Wolfe, spokesman for the railroads, reached at Miami Beach, Fla., had no comment, observing that he had not yet seen the letter.

The letter was sent over the weekend to the chairman of three regional carriers' conference committees in Chicago. It was signed by chiefs of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the Order of Railroad Conductors and Brakemen, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Switchmen's Union of North America.

The unions represent some 200,000 on-train workers. They contend that the work rules changes, which were recommended a year ago by a presidential commission, would eliminate 80,000 jobs.

The major change would be elimination of the jobs of 40,000 firemen riding in diesel engines.

The unions have been trying through court action to block management moves and have indicated they will strike when all other avenues have been exhausted.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

ALLERGIC REACTIONS IN MOUTH

Citric and acetic acids may cause canker sores and other mouth lesions. We have seen several individuals over the years who drank large amounts of fruit juices. They developed sores in the mouth and in time discovered accidentally that the lesions could be prevented by eliminating fruit containing these acids.

Tests have demonstrated that allergy is responsible. Americans also are great pill users and the use of drugs often leads to painful ulcers, redness, and bleeding of the mouth. Barbiturates, antibiotics, iodine, sulfonamides, salicylates (aspirin), mercury, and bismuth head the list. Some of these products escaped detection because they are hidden in simple remedies such as cough syrups or pain killers.

Dust and germs cause these lesions occasionally.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Childhood Convulsions

Mrs. D. A. writes: I had just one attack of epilepsy as a child and am now 27. Do you think I will ever have another? I do worry because I drive a car.

Reply: I doubt if this question can be answered. The long duration of freedom from attacks is in your favor. Possibly the seizure you had as a child was due to an elevated temperature rather than to epilepsy. You might consider having a brain wave test.

Intestinal Flu

J. A. B. writes: What can you tell me about viral gastroenteritis?

Reply: This intestinal infection is caused by a virus and resembles food poisoning. Many of the victims have fever, generalized itching, nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, and gripping pain. Spontaneous recovery is the rule.

Tainted Food

P. D. writes: Could two persons who ate the same contaminated food react differently?

Reply: Yes, because other factors play a role in the severity of food poisoning. These include the amount eaten and whether vomiting occurred immediately thereafter.

Appendicitis And Pregnancy

S. A. S. writes: Can a woman become pregnant after having an operation for ruptured appendix?

Reply: Yes, because the reproductive organs are rarely involved in perforation of the appendix.

Nikita Is Invited To State Burro Race

LEADVILLE, Colo. (UPI)—Nikita Khrushchev, among other world leaders, has been invited to take part in a burro race, of all things.

Jack East, president of the Leadville Chamber of Commerce, said the invitations have gone out to Khrushchev, Francisco Franco of Spain, Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito and leaders of Latin American countries.

The world leaders have been asked to participate in the annual World's Championship Pack Burro Race July 28, East said. It is doubtful if any of them could complete the rugged, 23-mile long race from Fairplay, Colo., over Mosquito Pass, which is 13,200 feet high, to this 10,200-foot high Rocky Mountain town.

East said he was expecting about 50 entries this year.

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

WASHINGTON — In the so far secret correspondence of President Kennedy and Nikita Khrushchev during the Cuban missile crisis, it now appears that the Red boss made a vague pledge to remove most if not all the Soviet troops on the Caribbean island.

At least this is the opinion of Secretary of State Rusk and presumably of President Kennedy who touched on the subject somewhat warily at his press conference last week. From what both Rusk and Kennedy have said on the subject, however, it is clear they do not think the Khrushchev commitment was so framed that they can now demand he fulfill his pledge at this time.

In two or three months this could be possible, if they construe the commitment correctly. Hence the present sparring for time on the politically-hot issue of the continued presence of $7,000 troops, including four mobile combat units.

What Khrushchev is supposed to have said in one of his private letters to the President was that "in due course" or "in due time" at least a portion of the Soviet forces would be removed.

As interpreted by Secretary Rusk this commitment was in no wise limited to the Soviet units which manned the offensive missile sites. These, to a total of 5,000, have returned to Russia, most of them shortly after the dismantling, according to both Defense Secretary McNamara and CIA Chief John McCone.

The way this phrase "in due course" keeps turning up indicates clearly that it is the accepted English language equivalent of what Khrushchev said in Russian.

At a press conference on Nov. 20, President Kennedy mentioned how our intelligence had revealed "in recent days a number of Soviet ground combat units in Cuba." He added "we are informed that these and other Soviet units... will also be withdrawn in due course."

Secretary Rusk, in a television interview on Jan. 27 and in a press conference Feb. 1, followed this "in due course" reference. Here are examples:

"As I have indicated we have had some indication from the Soviet Union that these forces, at least a portion of them, will be removed in due course."

"When he (Khrushchev) said 'in due course' — we, of course, are very much interested in this time factor."

"It had been indicated earlier, as the President indicated in his Nov. 20 press conference, that some of these forces would be leaving in due course and there was no precise time limit on that. But the building of barracks indicates that due course is perhaps not very fast, so we are watching that situation very carefully."

As of this date this "in due course" commitment seems to be of little value except as a slender reed of hope that Khrushchev will help make the Cuban situation better before the Republicans succeed in making it far worse politically. It has all the phony earmarks, in a way, of the Supreme Court's school integration edict of eight years ago when it ordered an end to segregation "with all deliberate speed."

Yet Kennedy certainly indicated last week that it is his hope that the "in due course" or "in due time" statement of Khrushchev could be used as a leverage to force further withdrawal of Soviet Cuban units.

But he also indicated that, for the time being, he intended to follow a "watch and wait" policy. He suggested there should be "clearer information" in the next few weeks — meaning of course whether there is a trickle of troops out, or signs of a further digging in, or, of course, what would be really serious — a movement of more Soviet uniformed forces in.

Meanwhile the President indicated that feelers are already being "out" to find out exactly what Nikita meant. This is a required gambit, but obviously Khrushchev is going to be hard to pin down, and almost certain to rest on his "in due course" statement of late October.

Kennedy showed last week that the kick-up of partisan politics on the "Cuban buildup" issue has got under his skin. But he carefully side-stepped all chances to take on Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) specifically, although it has been Keating's private intelligence information that has really stirred up the political arena.

But he did deliver a quietly-phrased warning to those Republicans and others whooping up the present Cuban danger. He said he had noticed that none of the administration's Cuban policy critics were discussing the matter of "how" to lay low the Cuban threat for good.

And he reminded that there was really only one answer to "how." That was invasion, which would mean the killing of many Americans as well as Cubans.

This was a tip-off to how he and other Democrats would respond if the Cuba issue developed into a big one in the 1964 presidential campaign, as now seems most likely. It will be bluntly to pin the "war monger" label on the GOP opposition.

That move, in a sense, is already under way and under administration auspices. It explains the "McCarthyism" crack made by Rep. Sam Stratton (D-N.Y.) in charging Keating with "disgraceful irresponsibility" in claiming that certain Soviet long-range missile sites are still operational.

Stratton was selected to make the tough partisan reply to Keating because the White House wants to try out the upstate New York Democrat for size. If he catches on by going after Keating on a no-holds-barred basis, then he can be expected to get White House support for the 1964 Senate nomination when Keating is up for re-election.

It was learned that the Democratic high command would much prefer to have Stratton to run against Keating, than New York City's Mayor Wagner. This is because Stratton is from upstate, where Kennedy is weakest, and if Stratton develops into a strong political figure, Kennedy would benefit and any chances of Soviet Union that these forces, at least a portion of them, will be removed in due course."

hanced. And Rocky, of course, is "the man to beat" for the White House in 1964, as the Irish mafia has figured it.

Many States Share Auto License Colors

DENVER (UPI)—Ten states and the District of Columbia share what was intended as a distinctive mark—green and white automobile license plates.

Colorado shares the combination with two of its neighbors this year—Nebraska and Kansas. Nebraska uses the colors in the same way as Colorado, green figures on white background.

The Rocky Mountain AAA Club identified the others as Alabama, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Washington, Michigan, Vermont and West Virginia.

But the eleven look-alikes have company in their dilemma, the club said. Nine states share blue and white.

A notable exception to the color confusion is British Columbia, the club said. They use pink figures on a maroon background.

Biological Science Institute in Danger

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—The American Institute of Biological Sciences may fade from the U.S. scientific and academic scene unless biologists volunteer some cash, the institute president said Sunday.

In an urgent letter, Dr. James D. Ebert said he hoped biologists would help renew "the public's faith in the fiscal responsibility of scientists."

Trouble came to the AIBS when government auditors checked its books and discovered shortages totaling a quarter million dollars, including non-acceptable expenses such as $221 for entertainment and $200 for international travel.

The institute created the Biological Sciences Curriculum Study four years ago and received National Science Foundation grants totaling $5 million to study high school biology studies.

The Curriculum Study was placed under the jurisdiction of the University of Colorado last month and 2 million was granted the university to complete the curriculum study.

A series of biology films made with the foundation grants at a cost of $450,000 may have to go on the block to pay off $100,000 required by NSA by Feb. 25, Ebert said.

Denver Will Fight Rock Springs Pipeline

DENVER (UPI)—Mayor Richard Batterton pledged today that representatives of the City of Denver would appear before the Federal Power Commission at Washington, D.C., Feb. 21, to further press the city's fight against the proposed Rock Springs pipeline project.

The FPC will hold final arguments on the controversial project on that date.

The city so far has spent $87,000 in four years in fighting the project, sought by Colorado Interstate Gas Co. and El Paso Natural Gas Co.

The proposed line would include construction by CIG of a new pipeline from the Texas Panhandle to Denver and a new line from Green River, near Rock Springs, Wyo., to Provo, Utah. El Paso would continue the Provo line to California markets.

The proposal also would retire CIG's 35-year-old line from the Panhandle to Denver, and the company would stop purchasing gas at Green River for the Denver area, using that line instead to flow gas to the Green River-Provo line.

Batterton said Charles Rhyne and Douglas Means, Washington attorneys, would represent Denver in next week's oral arguments.

"I want to do all I can to insure Denver of an adequate supply of gas at reasonable rates. . . . I don't believe this project provides that insurance," Batterton said.

QUESTION: Please tell me what you believe is the most important element in a Christian home. —M. S.

ANSWER: According to the Bible, love is the dominant principle of life. Paul said: "Now abideth faith, hope and love; but the greatest of these is love." A home is founded upon love. It is nourished by love. It is strengthened by love. If we love God, we will have faith in Him. If we love each other, the home can be a heaven on earth, for, "love never faileth."

The human heart is so designed that it must be filled with something. If our hearts are not filled with God, and love for each other, then bickering, nagging, strife, and confusion will surge in to fill up the vacuum.

You can't change the color of your child's eyes, but you "can" make them glow with the light of true love. Nothing gives the child greater security, and creates in him a greater reverence for others, than for him to receive and to give love.

But human love can only be interpreted in the light of God's love. "Hereby perceive we the love of God, because He laid down His life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren." (1 John 3:16)

QUESTION: One of my college professors says that the New Testament writers twisted the truth to suit their own concept of Christianity. Should I believe this, or the Bible? —T. B.

ANSWER: To put it bluntly, one wonders if your professor has not himself been subjected to a theological brain-washing in his training and is now trying to transmit the process to others. There are rules of evidence which will help you. There are those who today have their own concept of Christianity and if the New Testament record does not conform to that concept, they are inclined to discard the New Testament or to accuse its writers of ignorance or dishonesty. Where the moral and intellectual integrity of the New Testament writers is called in question, the burden of proof rests with the questioner. Take the New Testament, beginning with Matthew, and go through marking every verse which refers to the Old Testament. You will find that the Writers, and also our Lord Himself, all accepted both the truthfulness and the authority of the Old Testament record. God has given us a divinely inspired book and it is designed to sit in judgment on man, not man on the Bible. Let me suggest that you get down on your knees and tell God that you accept His Word, although you cannot understand or explain all of it. When you do this, you will find that the Holy Spirit will bring you both assurance and power, enough to rise above all doubt.

the licensee can appeal the ruling to the courts.

On Monday evening the doors of the lounge were locked on a distraint order issued by County Treasurer Ruth Ellingson.

Harfert owns the White Star Cafe, 114 S. Nevada Ave., and the Cosmo Restaurant, 126 E. Colorado Ave., which have also had distraint orders issued on them for non-payment for back taxes for 1962. He has until Saturday to pay these.

Mrs. Ellingson issued similar distraint warrants Jan. 29 for non-payment of 1960, 1961 and 1962 taxes. Harfert paid $3,600 for 1960 and 1961. All three establishments were kept open for several days under guards placed there to insure compliance with the distraints.

Harfert prevented Mrs. Ellingson and the constable who served the warrants from selling or interfering with the businesses by obtaining a restraining order from District Judge Hunter D. Hardeman.

After a hearing held Feb. 7 the restraining order was dissolved as Hardeman ruled Mrs. Ellingson and the constable had acted within their rights to include the taxes for 1962 in the distraint warrants.

Alto Harfert has now paid his taxes for 1960 and 1961 and the 1962 taxes will not become delinquent until May 1 of this year. County Attorney James Tarter said at the hearing that Mrs. Ellingson is entitled to distraint if she has reason to believe the property "may dissipate."

Tarter also said that there was information that Harfert was in trouble with the liquor commission and that suppliers would only deliver on a cash basis.

Jimmy Durante Observes His 70th Birthday

Little Jack Carter, Gene Bayless, Peter Lawford and a lot of others.

"I wanted to go four rounds with Rocky, but he wouldn't take me on. Everybody had a lot of fun."

Durante does an hour and 15-minute show and keeps going night after night.

"No other entertainers—just us," he said.

Between shows Monday night he entertained the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association at their annual banquet.

The record says Durante was born in Brooklyn in 1893 and that he started in show business at 17, which means he's starting his 54th year on the stage.

"Who's he kidding?" he snorted. "In my day, we didn't have no doctors. Everybody had midwives. Maybe I picked a date at random. Nobody had birth certificates in them days."

"I could've said 1910 or something. Maybe I should've picked a date like that. I had a lot of trouble getting to Europe in 1936, 'cause I never had no birth certificate. I never did find one."

"But it's been a lot of fun, and I'll go on as long as I can—as long as they come to see me and I can make 'em happy."

Soviets Said Continuing Offensive Cuba Buildup

Navy states bluntly that six were photographed in Cuba but none on ships leaving Cuba. These launch rings, next to missiles, are considered the most important part of a Soviet IRBM missile complex.

The Navy's unpublished summary of Russian IRBM supporting missile equipment photographed by U.S. surveillance planes in Cuba and the comparison of equipment photographed on Soviet ships leaving Cuba is as follows:

Cuba Prior To Nov. 5	6 Mutual Economic Aid called a maritime conference to set up a regular shipping service between Cuba and Baltic ports. One meeting took place on Nov. 30 aboard the East German cruise ship Fritz Heckert. Representatives of Cuba, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary and the USSR attended. Cuba's foreign trade with Communist countries during 1962 totaled $945 million; with free world, $245 million.

In pointing out that more missile vans and military transporters were photographed on Soviet ships leaving Cuba than observed on the island, the Navy revealed the fallibility of air surveillance to locate all missile equipment clandestinely brought to the island by the Russians.

REPORTING THE FACTS — In his testimony before the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee, Central Intelligence Director John McCona revealed to Congress for the first time that "the Soviets have brought in approximately 150 coastal defense missiles." He added: "A large number of these cruise missiles are still in storage, which suggests that the Cuban crisis interrupted a Soviet program to construct several more sites. There are probably more sites." At present, the Russians have a total of six sites. . . . U.S. measure to discourage foreign flag vessels from trading with Cuba have not taken the Soviets by surprise. Comecon, the Communist bloc's Council for Mutual Economic Aid, called a maritime conference to set up a regular shipping service between Cuba and Baltic ports. One meeting took place on Nov. 30 aboard the East German cruise ship Fritz Heckert. Representatives of Cuba, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary and the USSR attended. Cuba's foreign trade with Communist countries during 1962 totaled $945 million; with free world, $245 million.

County Planners To Consider Zone Changes

Seven plats and five petitions for zone change will be presented to the El Paso County Planning Commission at a public hearing at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the auditorium of the County Office Building.

The final plat of Rustic Hills Subdivision, 2, southeast of Gallego Road in an A-1 garden home district, will be considered by the commission. The area is being developed by Bill Smart and contains 148.2 acres.

The Widefield Heights plat will come before the commission for final approval. The area contains 22.1 acres and is located north of Widefield and east of South Security Boulevard.

The final plat for Holiday Hills, located between Volmer Road and County Road 189, which has been tabled will be reviewed by the commission. Developer of the area which contains 40.8 acres is Finis Wandell.

Preliminary plats to be discussed include Austin Acres, 28.1 acres, Rustic Hills Subdivision 3, 205 acres, Harmon Hills 2, 78.6 acres, and Pikes Peak Hills, which is located south of the Old Airport Road in an A-2 farming district containing 135 lots.

Zone change petitions have been submitted by John Ceresa, Gerald and Gwendolyn Drake, Klaus and Marian Abegg, Glenn S. Wagner, Sproul Homes Inc. and George Plozman.

Ceresa is requesting that an A-1 garden home district located west of Holmes Drive between Dale and California Streets be changed to a C-1 roadside service district.

A petition to change an R-1 residence to an R-2 residence district south of Navajo Street and west of Cascade Avenue has been filed by Gerald and Gwendolyn Drake and Klaus and Marian Abegg.

Wagner's petition requests that an A-3 airport farm and a C-1 roadside service district be changed to a C-2 suburban business district. The area is south of U.S. 24 in Section 13.

The petition of Sproul Homes requests that an A-2 farming district be rezoned as an R-2 residence. The request is for an area located south of the Old Airport Road, approximately one-quarter mile east of the extension of South Circle Drive.

Plozman's tabled petition requests that an A-3 district be changed to C-1. The area includes approximately 20 acres and is located south of the Douglas-El Paso County lines.

The President issued a special statement as the delegates resumed their work here, with Foster replacing the resigned Arthur H. Dean as chief American representative to the talks.

The President asked the negotiators "to reverse the present dangerous trend of the arms race," and said the conditions for success are "somewhat more encouraging than before."

Foster asked the Russians to abandon propaganda and their "take it or leave it" bargaining tactics.

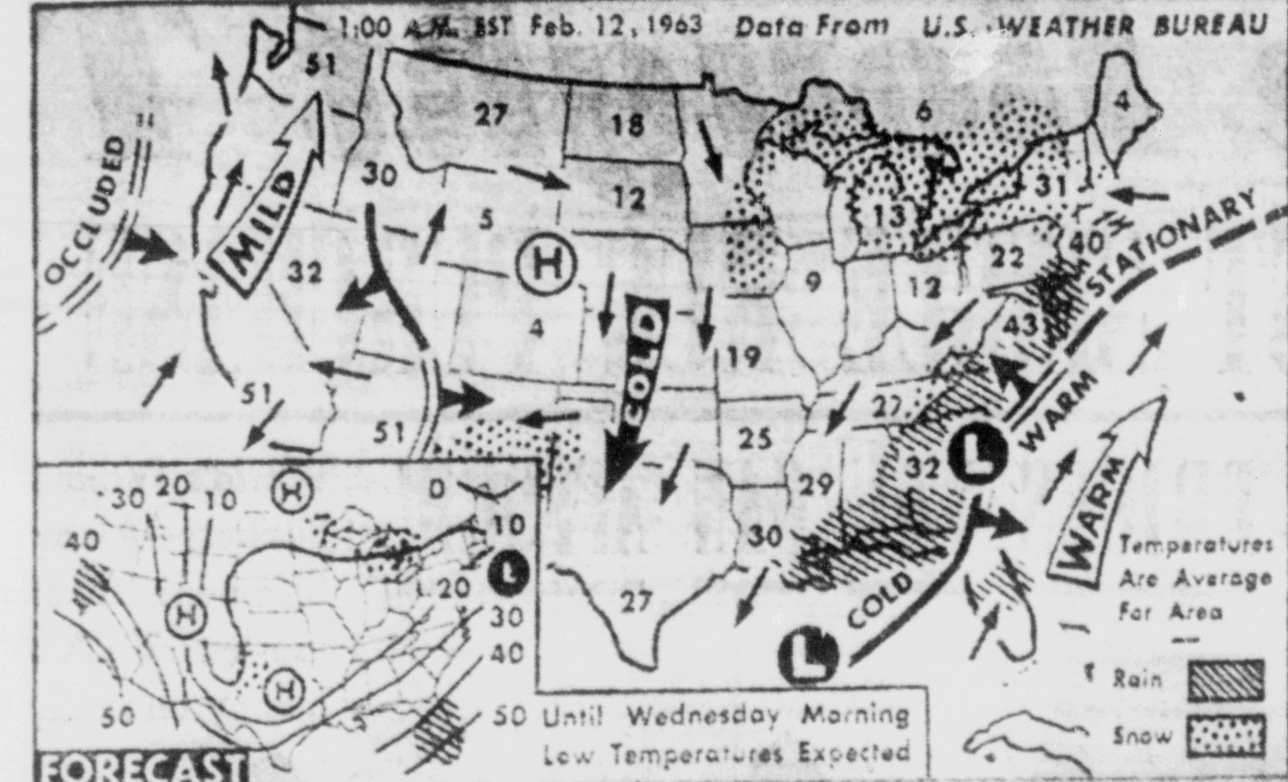

"It is time for them to come down to hard facts," he said. "For it does seem to us that the basic ingredient of success—a desire for agreement by both nuclear sides—may now exist. Certainly it does on our side."

City Council Amends Two Zoning Ordinances

City Council today amended two zoning ordinances of Colorado Springs.

The first changed the zone classification of the northwest corner of Platte Avenue and Thous Street, intersection from C-4 (intermediate business) to C-4 (general business high rise).

The second zone change affects large mathematical placement of C-4 (general business high rise) in the area. The area was formerly C-4 (intermediate business) and is now C-4 (general business high rise).

Mansfield flatly denied — as Scott had suggested — that there was any deal between Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Kennedy for the removal of American missiles in Europe in exchange for the withdrawal of Soviet missiles in Cuba.

In a barb patently aimed at Keating, one of the most vocal critics of the administration, Mansfield told his colleagues he would be the last to suggest that members of Congress know less about matters pertaining to Cuba than the President, the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense.

"But I would suggest most respectfully," he said, "that the responsible course which helps rather than hurts the nation would be for these well-informed members to take their inside, unimpeachable information on Cuba to the appropriate departments at the same time that they take it to the press galleries."

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said he is willing to accept the administration's judgment on Cuba because of its many sources of intelligence.

But he said that if the Soviet Union continues to end troops and weapons to the island and strong diplomatic pressure fails to get them out, he would favor resort to another blockade such as that clamped on last fall.

Mansfield turned angrily on the Senate-House Republican leadership for a statement that anti-

American sentiment was sweeping England, France and Canada because, the GOP leaders said, the Kennedy administration had bungled its relations with those countries.

Mansfield said he had hoped the Republicans would come up with some statement in which they would "take the side of their own country" instead of criticizing its course.

"The time for politics in our foreign policy is long past," he declared. "The time for backing up our government is long overdue."

Westward, a large high pressure area dominated the weather pattern from the Midwest to the Rockies, bringing generally clear but cold conditions to most of the region.

Some cloudiness and an occasional period of light snow or snow flurries fell from the upper Mississippi Valley into Michigan. Meanwhile, cloudiness clung to the southern Rockies and adjacent areas with snow scattered across western Texas, New Mexico and the mountains of southern Colorado.

There was some cloudiness along coastal sections of California and a new frontal system heading toward the coast promises some rain for northern California and the Oregon shore.

Cold arctic air covered a good portion of the nation this morning with the freezing line running roughly from Massachusetts to southern Alabama.

Warm air held to the east of this line as temperatures ranged from the upper 30s in the north to the 50s along the coastal Plains of the Carolinas and Georgia, while Florida logged the 60s and 70s.

Fumio Nakai, Manitou Fire Chief Dies

Fumio Nakai, widely known Manitou Springs curio dealer, a Board member of School District 14 and chief of the Manitou Springs Volunteer Fire Department, died Monday at his home, 431 E. Fountain P.

He was a native of Manitou Springs, born June 9, 1916, of Japanese parents, and was one of the most popular residents of the city. He has been active in business in Manitou Springs since 1940, with the exception of three years when he was in the military service in World War II. He served as foreman, secretary and treasurer of the fire department before he became chief. He was a past president of the Manitou Springs Kiwanis Club, a director of the Chamber of Commerce and had just finished a term as Cubmaster of Cub Scout Pack 18. He had worked the Post Office there during the annual Christmas rush.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bunzo Nakai, who survive him, came to Manitou Springs in 1915 from Japan. His father operated a restaurant for five years, then opened the Nakai Curio Shop, which the son still operates. It is one of the oldest stores of the kind, at 950 Manitou Ave.

Fumio Nakai attended the Manitou Springs grade and high school and Blair's Business College. He was married in 1941 and his wife, Mrs. Mary Nakai, a native of Greeley, Colo., survives him.

He is also survived by three sons, Robert B., James W. and Joe A. Nakai. Besides his wife, sons and aunts, all of Manitou Springs, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. J. O. Altherton, Manitou Spring, and Mrs. Fred Morita, Ault, Colo., and two brothers, Mitzy Nakai, Denver, and Akida Nakai, Dallas, Tex.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the Blunt Mortuary Chapel. The Rev. Clifford Lewis will officiate.

Burial will be in Crystal Valley Cemetery, Manitou Springs.

Palbearers will be Earl Pitcock, Tolle Haas, Homer Davis, Paul Shepard, Bob Bone and John Paulson.

Miss Helen Todd spoke against the code's adoption, calling it "cripping to the city."

Attorney Ben Wendelken, urging adoption of the code, said: "If the purpose of the code was to legislate morality, I'd be against it. However, I see it as a way to lay down the ground rules so that persons who serve the city know what they're getting in to. It will provide an effective mechanism to determine these rules. I don't consider it as a reflection against the council."

The 10-point code, according to a declaration of policy, will establish ethical standards of conduct for all such officials and employees by setting forth those acts Jan. 1, 1963, or actions that are incompatible with the best interests of the city and by directing disclosure by such officials and employees of private financial or other interests in matters affecting the city.

Specifically, the code of ethics rules on conflicts of interest, representing private interests before city agencies; representing private interests before courts; interest in legislation; disclosure by officer or employee of interest in legislation; gifts and favors; use of confidential information; investments in conflict with official duties; incompatible employment; and future employment.

Result of U.N. Pleading

Did President Kennedy person- ing out the Cuban defensive air ally cancel the air cover for the cover.

It is probably at this moment, the decision was made which the old question is being asked: the resulted in the defeat of the ill- ated invasion expedition. The at- torney General Robert Kennedy, the President's brother, has brought it into the open.

Now that the Cuban refugees have been returned to this country, brought to bear on the President the two-year-old story is being revived once more.

There is apparently no doubt any longer that the responsibility for the failure of the invasion is going to be laid at the feet of them and simply ordered that President John Kennedy. Also, there is no longer any doubt but Kennedy that the invasion, which President stated publicly a short while ago Kennedy tried to brush off as a that "there never were any non-official venture, actually was planned and executed as an Amer- ican-sponsored mission."

The invasion forces, altho Cu- ban, had been trained by Amer- ican military men. They had been supplied with American military weapons. The entire invasion, from the selection of the site of the Bay of Pigs, to the timing of the affair, was handled by Americans.

Two American aircraft carriers were on hand when the invasion occurred. Also a battalion of U.S. Marines was in readiness to follow up the invasion when it succeeded. A fleet of American destroyers could also have par- ticipated.

The only reason full American participation did not occur was that the President of the United States ordered it withheld at the substantial number of Castro's last salute. Additionally, an order planes and this second strike was from the President cancelled a to knock out the rest, but so the planned air strike by a Cuban invasion was beginning, before a group of 3,000 members of Castro's fleet could move into which were to attack stable at sea.

The President's action to be taken in air strike of the Bay of Pigs was triggered.

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph.D.

At least once a week we re- ceive a letter from a man or woman who wishes to try to find a country or a town or vil- lage or an area in which it might be possible for many families to live and prosper in freedom. A wish doesn't seem to solve the problem and none of the people who have talked with us about such plans have ever set for themselves the task of thinking it over from a practical point of view. Let's take a look at this area in which we live because the village has no formal government.

For the moment, let us assume it would be possible to buy out all of the people who now live here. The town site property has an assessed valuation of less than $100,000. It might be entire-ly possible for individuals who actually believe in the philoso-phy of freedom to individually buy out the present property owners until the entire popula- tion consisted of freedom-loving, self-responsible human beings.

Police protection would be as unnecessary as it is at present. A volunteer fire department would be adequate. The later sit- uation could be vastly improved, by an intelligent use of availa- ble facilities and thinking man- agement via a private enterprise operation, and right there every- thing would come to a stumbling halt.

The State of Arizona maintain- rigid controls on public utilities in the manner of a fascist state. Despite the fact of no local gov- ernment, the state would get into the act in this regard.

Retail and wholesale business and services are licensed and controlled by the county and State of Arizona. Private schools would come under both county and state control. Corporations of any kind are controlled by the corporation commission.

True, when you are not under the immediate heel of govern- ment, you can envision a strong, healthy illusion of freedom but the illusion is just as false as any other image, an image of the real thing.

In my mind's eye, I have watched such a colony come into being, grow and prosper from an entirely realistic point of view. There would be no security and no assurance of success even tho everyone involved held a most sincere belief in the philosophy of freedom and in the private en- terprise ideal. The basic stum- bling block is the fact of every state and every county holding control of most of the land and activities of the citizenry, even tho we ignore the overall tyr- anny of the federal government.

There is this one very faint possibility: IF the government rulership of a state decided it would make good publicity to permit such an endeavor within its borders as a means of encourag- ing new people and new capital to move into the state; IF it would agree to relinquish all con- trol over the area and prohibit county or district control for a period of time, say 99 years. Under this circumstance, it might be possible to discourage or minimize control by the federal gov- ernment to a degree which would permit private enterprise and in- dividual initiative to prove its worth and shining and entirely valid point of view.

Use of state and/or county fa- cilities would be paid for by each and every individual. This scholarly presentation is marred by only one statement which is not major in the theme, but major in implication. In his third paragraph, reader Evans says: "Death, taxes and change are inevitable." Death and change probably are. These are natural conditions not made by men and are probably beyond the ability of men in their tampering.

But taxes are another breed of calamity altogether. Taxes are

In time, however, many of the

Frost's poems about New Eng-

Frost of the mountains in New Hampshire, he had remained where he was.

In modern parlance, Robert

Frost was an "underprivileged" teacher, writing little and getting his education as he could. He joined no cliques, he did not try to become a professional writer overnight. Poetry, to him, was intellectual play, to see if he could

"pull it off." "My life," he said, it."

A strange man in the modern

He also cherished independence

see him go, for he represented the best phases of our republican and our democratic past.

Answer: The power of a union to cripple an industry rests upon violence. Violence is always easy and any group of men could become violent at any time. Normally, men do not become violent. Only labor

Orchestra Pitch to Stay At Same Level After All

By edick West
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The casual rate among piano tuners is not as high as it is in some other professions like maybe scuba diving or airplane wing-walking.

Nevertheless, piano tuners do have their occupational hazards. There is always a chance that a string will snap and flagellate them in E-flat, or that the lid of a baby grand will drop on their heads.

The perils of piano-tuning recently were cited by members of the Piano Technicians Guild as one reason for passing a resolution urging that the standard for tuning "A" above "middle C" be kept 440 vibrations a second.

Guild members noted with alarm that some symphony orchestras were tuning on an "A" tuning on an "A" with 442 vibrations. They deplored the trend to a higher pitch, asserting that it could make their work more dangerous.

Extra tension on the strings might cause a vintage piano, whose structure had been weakened by years of absorbing sour notes, to fly apart, they pointed out.

"You're taking your life in your hands when you raise the pitch on some of those old alligators," one tuner was quoted as complaining.

The guild indicated it would carry its case to the National Bureau of Standards, and it was the prospect of governmental intervention that aroused my interest in the controversy.

I called the bureau to see if the tuners had contacted it. The man said they had not. Furthermore, he indicated there was nothing the bureau could do to succor and comfort them, or relieve their anxieties.

Although the bureau presently recognizes the "A" above "middle C" favored by the tuners, this is not done for either aesthetic or humane reasons.

It is merely abiding by an international agreement fixing 440 vibrations as the standard pitch.

"If an orchestra or anyone else wants to tune at a higher pitch, that is an artistic matter over which we have no control," the spokesman said.

I then called the National Symphony Orchestra to ascertain its feelings on the issue. A spokesman there told me that the piano tuners actually were Johnny-come-lately participants in the vibration battle.

It seems that the basic struggle, which has been raging for years in between stringed instrument players, who want to tune at 442 vibrations for greater brilliance of tone, and the woodwinds, who find it easier to play at a lower pitch.

Aged Medicare May Wait, Says Governor Love

By GORDON G. GAUSS
DENVER (AP)—Expansion of Colorado's medical care program for old age pensioners to cover all aged persons on limited incomes may have to wait another year, Gov. John A. Love indicated Monday.

Love said he has received estimates varying as much as 30 percent on the number of persons who might be covered under such a program, which would call for full use by the state of funds available under the federal Kerr-Mills Act.

The governor called for implementation of the Kerr-Mills money during the campaign last fall. Explaining his position in response to a news conference question, Love said that until he is fairly certain of the number of persons to be covered under such a program and its cost to the state, "I am not going to take the position it should be implemented this year."

The governor commented that medical aid to the aged "is an area in which government is going to operate" and said he prefers that it should be done through the state.

If no further implementation of the Kerr-Mills Act is agreed upon this year, Love said, the legislature probably simply will meet the deficit expected in the medical and hospital care fund for old age pensioners. This deficit may run as high as $2 million for the fiscal year ending June 30.

The governor said he still wants the income tax reduction on 1963 earnings limited to $3 million, roughly the figure already voted on 1962 earnings.

He reiterated he wants to keep the 15 per cent cut in lower income brackets and said any adjustments would have to come in the higher brackets.

The governor said that any reductions on personal income taxes must be kept within the limit he raised if the federal income tax deduction is allowed. The state simply can't stand the loss of revenue at this time which any other method would entail, he declared.

The subjects touched upon by Love are two of three major problems on which Republicans have not yet reached full agreement. The third is the amount of school aid and the method of allocation.

The governor's comments followed a conference with Dept. of Institutions officials on his budget message.

Love described it as "firming up some decisions." He said he still expects to have the message ready for the legislature by Friday and that certainly it will be delayed no longer than one week from today.

A reporter asked if there are plans this year to exempt federal income tax paid by corporations from each firm's earnings when computing state income tax.

Love said it might be done but he would prefer to wait until Constitutional Amendment No. 3 passed last Nov. 6 by the voters could be implemented fully.

The governor emphasized that corporation tax rates must be

Macmillan Says All Blame Falls On DeGaulle

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today laid full blame on the government of President Charles de Gaulle of France for barring Britain's entry into the European Common Market, and outlined an urgent program of action.

With unconvincing bitterness Macmillan told the House of Commons:

"If the European vision has been obscured it has not been through some minor obstruction. It was brought to an end by a dramatic, if somewhat brutal, stroke of policy."

Macmillan opened a two-day debate on the collapse of Britain's bid to link up with Europe.

"The end did not come because discussions were menaced with failure. On the contrary it was because they threatened to succeed," he said.

Then, in a searing attack on the French government, Macmillan unmistakably accused the Paris authorities of double-dealing.

"That the French government, in their hearts, had long feared success I do not doubt. Many excuses have been given but it is clear that none of the reasons is the real one," he said.

He said he personally had hoped that British-French good will and friendship—"forged in the purging fire of war"—would have been enough to transcend national considerations.

Macmillan turned then to some of the remedies which he emphasized do not envision a resumption of the Common Market talks in the foreseeable future.

"We propose a conference of Commonwealth ministers. We shall work for close cooperation with the Commonwealth, United States and the European Free Trade Association. We shall work for world commodity agreements."

"And at home we shall work for an expanding economy without inflation based upon and income policy."

Route Elimination Action Is Filed

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — The Nebraska Aeronautics Department filed a brief with the State Supreme Court here seeking affirmation of a State Railway Commission ruling denying a request from Frontier Airlines to eliminate its northern Nebraska route.

The main contention in today's brief was that the railway commission has jurisdiction in the case. Frontier maintains that the Civil Aeronautics Board—not the Railway Commission—has the final word on whether the route should be eliminated.

The CAB granted Frontier permission to discontinue the route.

Desalted Water Forecast Within A Few Years

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Interior Undersecretary James K. Carr told Congress today that large salt water conversion plants can probably supply fresh water economically to large cities within a few years.

Carr, appearing before the House Interior Committee, said the Interior Department was "optimistic" that sea water could be turned into fresh water economically if conversion plants were built in combination with steam electric plants.

The gap between the cost of water from saline plants and conventional methods for obtaining municipal and industrial water is closing rapidly, Carr said.

But he warned that the conversion of salt water for irrigation purposes was still "not within sight" at costs competitive with ordinary irrigation method.

He told the committee that Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall had ordered an "all out effort" by bureaus under his direction to seek economical methods for turning sea water into fresh water.

"It appears that it is possible, particularly in the Pacific Southwest, with larger size plants and with known processes, to produce water for about the same cost that it would require for transportation of surface fresh water supplies over long distances," he said.

The key, Carr said, probably would be the cost of fuel to operate the conversion plant. He said it was estimated that with natural gas it might be possible to produce up to 30 million gallons a day at a cost of $100 per acre foot, or 30 cents per thousand gallons.

In San Francisco, he said, the wholesale cost of municipal water to communities currently approaches $90 per acre foot in some areas.

Carr said a 25-million gallon plant operating in conjunction with a power plant selling electricity for six mills per kilowatt hour could sell water for $35 per acre foot.

"Such a price for municipal water would definitely be competitive in many areas of the United States, particularly in the Pacific Southwest and in parts of Florida," he said.

Volcano Reported Erupting in Alaska

KODIAK, Alaska (AP)—A volcano is erupting near Amukta Island about 700 miles southeast of here in the Aleutians, the Kodiak Naval Station reported Monday.

A Navy plane flew near the mountain Sunday and reported it was blowing dark gray and black smoke about 50 feet into the air. Lava was flowing from the cone to the ocean, 3,500 feet below.

The Navy said the volcano was erupting about every 15 minutes.

Newspapers Are More Influential, Publisher Says

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Paul Miller, president of the Gannett group of newspaper, said here that "newspapers no longer snarl and rarely thunder, but when they speak out on some big issue, in reasonable language, they are more influential than ever."

Miller, who also is president of The Associated Press, was here to receive the William Allen White Foundation award for journalistic merit.

In his prepared lecture, Miller said newspapers should bend over backward to give a hearing to those with contrary views and added that strongly partisan newspapers have declined in number and influence.

He said most of the professionals who manage America's successful group now avoid personal participation in partisan politics.

"With all due respect, I suggest that what we have lost in color, in individuality, has been offset by a gain in responsibility and no public confidence. Newspapers no longer snarl, and rarely thunder, but when they speak out on some big issue, in reasonable language, they are more influential than ever," he said.

The great majority of American newspapers are tending toward still greater service and value, in all respects, whether locally owned or otherwise.

Miller is president of the Gannett group of 17 newspapers, 3 radio stations and two television stations in four states.

The parchment citation to be presented to Miller at the University of Kansas in an afternoon ceremony describes him as "an American journalist who exemplifies that William Allen White deals in journalism and in service to his profession and his community."

The award and the 14th annual William Allen White lecture to be delivered by Miller were highlights of the foundation's annual commemoration of the birthday of White, famed editor of the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette. White, noted for his pungent editorials and public service, died in 1944.

Oil Depot to Be Built In Monte Vista Area

MONTE VISTA, Colo. (UPI)—Frontier Oil and Refining Co. Sunday completed negotiations with Monte Vista city officials to lease land to build a two million gallon road oil supply depot.

City manager Ronald Iske said the company plans to start construction immediately on the plant which is designed to serve the Four Corners area, where Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Arizona join.

Iske said negotiations have been going on since last summer to find a spot which would meet Frontier specifications of being near the center of the San Luis Valley and accessible in all directions by both highway and rail service.

The tract of land located on the corner of the San Luis Valley airport 6 1/2 miles east of Monte Vista has been leased by the oil firm for five years with an option to lease for four additional five-year periods.

Here's an easy way to ring the culinary bell at a teen-agers' party: Cut ripe olives into wedges; combine with ground beef, cat-sup, salt, pepper, instant minced onion and a bit of marjoram. Shape into 6 x 1-1/4 inch "logs." Broil or pan-fry, turning once, to desired doneness. Serve on long hot buttered buns.

National Federation Urges Installation of Seat Belts

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 11. — "Have a heart, help save a life," was urged today by Mrs. Dexter Otis Arnold, president, General Federation of Women's Clubs, in appealing to the 5-1/2 million members of the federated women's clubs, and the general public, to take immediate steps to make certain their family cars are equipped with automobile seat belts.

"With the nation's worst traffic accident death record in history just announced, 41,000 deaths in 1962, every citizen, whether driver or passenger, must take immediate preventive action. We must all assume the personal responsibility of making sure we have seat belts in our cars, and that we use them at all times," Mrs. Arnold said.

She urged immediate stepped-up support of the "Women's Crusade for Seat Belts," co-sponsored by the General Federation and the Auto Industries Highway Safety Committee, and commended co-operating public officials, state and local organizations, and clubwomen for their current efforts to help convince car owners they should install seat belts without delay and not wait for legislative action.

In announcing her heart month appeal, Mrs. Arnold quoted the following from a recent report received from a clubwoman: "I thought you might like to know that the 'Women's Crusade for Seat Belts' has saved my family and myself from certain serious injury and possible death. As a result of the program, we had belts installed in our 1961 car. Last month, our car turned over, down a grassy hill off the road, as the result of front tire failure. The car was a complete wreck, but my husband and I, in the front seat, had fastened our seat belts and were almost uninjured. Thank you and everyone who worked on the 'Crusade'."

"We are now receiving reports from all states regarding individual support of the 'Women's Crusade,' with participants indicating the local citizen group or club's efforts they aided when they had seat belts installed," Mrs. Arnold added. "Among these reports was one crediting the owner's participation to 'Self Preservation.' This seems indicative of a growing public feeling that seat belts do help protect motorists, and is encouraging evidence that the efforts of all our clubwomen and cooperating citizens are paying off."

States requiring installation of front seat belts and the model car year for which the laws are effective include: Wisconsin-1962; Mississippi-1963; Virginia-1963; District of Columbia-1964; Rhode Island-1964; New York-1965. Additional states and congressional representatives are currently working on seat belt installation legislation. However, none of the current bills or proposed legislation make it mandatory that the belts are to be used.

Mrs. Henry N. Leasure Celebrates 80th Birthday

Mrs. Henry N. Leasure of 309 1/2 N. 24th St. celebrated her 80th birthday Monday, Feb. 11. Born in Indiana, she came to Colorado at the age of four, with her parents who were pioneer ranchers in Prowers County.

The family lived in a dug-out on their claim for two years, until a small frame house could be built. Money was so scarce that settlers became "bone-pickers" — gathering old buffalo bones from the grasslands, to be sold for cash and shipped east on the new railroad, where they were made into fertilizer.

Traveling by wagon to one of their homestead claims near the present town of Hasty, Mrs. Leasure recalls seeing the sandstone walls of Bent's Big Timber Fort (later Old Ft. Lyon) silhouetted against a prairie sunset. After the army left the post, it had been used as a stage station for some years and then abandoned completely. In the military graveyard north of the fort and adjacent to the Santa Fe Trail — earth was crumbling into the opened graves, for the soldiers killed in the Indian wars had been disinterred and moved farther west to the new Ft. Lyon. The gravel of ant hills around the old trading post was brightened by hundreds of Indian trade beads, most of them blue.

As a homesteader Ed Leatherman, Mrs. Leasure's father, decided he could not whip the ranchers, so he joined them by establishing his own spread — the Leatherman-Leasure Ranch which was well known among the early day settlers of southeastern Colorado. People took hard physical work for granted in those days and they played just about as hard as they worked. It was a horse-and-buggy era and only a blizzard or a prairie fire could keep the families from hitching up their teams and driving many long miles across the range to a Saturday night square dance.

Mrs. Leasure recalls that Dr. Townsend, who originated the famous Townsend plan to benefit the aged, worked for several months on their ranch, most of the time cooking and fixing the eminent doctor bothered about economics or political philosophy. He was just another young man out seeing the West, and he had the vitality to dig post holes all day and play the piano in the big ranch living room half the night.

Another person who worked on their ranch was Dr. O. F. Lamson, who had been their neighbor in Green Castle, Ind. He built a fence around the ranch in his efforts to earn enough money to go to college.

Mrs. Leasure attended Colorado University in the days when Boulder still had a good deal of cow pasture left in the city limits.

Evening Party

Here's the answer to a request for a spirited version of a cherry sauce to accompany ice cream.

Chicken Salad Buttered Rolls Vanilla Ice Cream with Flaming Cherry Sauce

Flaming Cherry Sauce

1 jar 1 pound and 1 ounce dark sweet cherries in heavy syrup

1 tablespoon cornstarch 1/4 cup sugar

1/4 cup light corn syrup 1/4 cup light rum

Drain and pit cherries leaving them whole. Reserve cherry juice; there should be 1 cup. In a saucepan stir together the cornstarch and sugar, gradually add cherry juice, stirring until smooth after each addition. Add corn syrup.

Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until slightly thickened, clear and boiling. Remove from heat; pour into heatproof serving dish. Heat rum until warm; light rum with a match; pour flaming over cherry sauce. Pass at once with vanilla ice cream; makes enough sauce for 1 quart ice cream—8 servings.

Suicides Take Heavy Toll Among Japanese

By CHARLES R. SMITH
TOKYO (UPI)—Almost every Japanese schoolboy knows — and loves—the tale of the 47 Ronin.

It is a story of mass suicide, 47 brave Samurai warriors who slashed their stomachs in true hara kari fashion and died without flinching at the orders of the Tokugawa Shogun more than two and a half centuries ago.

This was Japan's most famous mass suicide. It is recorded in history books and has been the basis for hundreds of stories, plays and movies.

On Aug. 22, 1945, a week after World War II ended with Japan's defeat, 10 members of the ultra nationalist Japan Productive Party sat in a circle on the ground in downtown Tokyo. As they chanted their apologies to Emperor Hirohito for losing the war and bringing humiliation to him and the nation they pulled pins from hand grenades and blew themselves to bits.

Less than a week later, three waves of these victims went to the same spot and shot themselves to death.

There have been no more such mass suicides in Japan these days. But there has been no slackening of the rate of self-destruction.

Every 30 minutes somebody dies by his own hand in Japan. For every three who succeed, two fail.

Some who succeed are frustrated lovers. Some are disappointed students.

Some take their lives because of financial troubles. Some want to end their existence because of crippling injuries.

Some are like the teen-age high school girl who killed herself because she could not get rid of pimples that spotted her face.

Some are like Mitsuru Sasagawa. Sasagawa was 21 when he died. He was studying hard for the tough entrance examinations that Japanese students face when seeking entry into the major colleges. He had failed twice. He was studying every spare moment.

His father, Koei Sasagawa, told his son to rest and not study so hard when the youth complained of the constant noise of a pile driver at a construction site near their home.

One day the youth rushed out, side and raced down the street. Before anyone knew what he was doing or could stop him, young Sasagawa thrust his head under the pile driver, which crushed his skull like an eggshell.

Some of the suicides are like 24-year-old Shigeyuki Asano, of a small town in Aichi Prefecture. Despondent because of his poor health, Asano smashed a window in a Nagoya television tower and leaped to his death.

Some who try but fail are like 22-year-old Shoji Umekawa, a frustrated movie and television actor. Umekawa took an overdose of sleeping pills. A friend found him before it was too late.

Like so many of those who succeed, Umekawa's reason for wanting to end his own life was unrequited love.

There are many popular suicide spots in Japan.

One of the most popular is the crater of Mt. Mihara, an active volcano on Oshima Island, south of Tokyo. It became popular in the 1930's when two high school girls leaped to their deaths after seeing a sad show by the famed all-girl Takarazuka Troupe.

It was in the 1930's that double suicide became popular. Frustrated lovers usually were the victims.

So popular did double suicide become in the 1930's that a popular song was composed about it. The song was dedicated to a Keio University student and his lover who took poison and lay down to die together on Sakatayama Hill at Osio while watching the sun go down over the ocean.

What drives the Japanese to take their own lives at such a rate, second only to East Germany?

The Japanese Welfare Ministry says the main reasons appear to be "nervous breakdowns, family troubles and just plain boredom."

Some others go more deeply into the causes.

One writer suggested that "whatever the various reasons, it

SHE JINGLES—Her name is LuLu Porter; she's from Youngstown, Ohio, a very unlikely point of origin for an oriental belly dancer. LuLu's sinuous gyrations are seen in the new film, "The Brass Bottle." Her coin-spangled costume jingles as she jingles.

Jet Timmy Reported On Board Airliners

LONDON (UPI)—Stewardesses and I have known some to slip on high-altitude transatlantic off their girdles in the galley in flights are being plagued by what the back of the plane halfway between they call "jet tummy" that swells between London and New York, them up like balloons, it was re-she said.

According to a Dublin doctor, it is painful, the girls say, and loosening clothes is just what the sometimes it takes up to 24 hours girls ought to do to ease the before their waistlines get back trouble.

"Everyone swells to a certain extent when they fly, but hostesses seem to notice it more. If they are wearing a tight girdle, the chances are they will swell more," he said.

The doctor said the pain and swelling was caused by gases in the stomach expanding by as much as 50 per cent, depending on the pressure in the plane cabin.

"In some cases, inflammation is set off," he said. "There are no serious after-effects, though."

Congregation Will Wait, Priest Is Told

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—The Rev. Patrick Bacon awakes a little late one morning, and knew he couldn't get to a convent in time for the Mass he conducts there daily.

He relates that he called the convent, tried to disguise his voice, and asked for the time of the Mass.

One of the sisters replied: "Whenever you get here, Father."

GUARD AGAINST PLUNDERING

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (AP)—Local residents of this mountainous northwestern corner of Yugoslavia are determined to protect their flowers from the depredations of tourists.

A volunteer corps of mountain guards keep a close watch out during summer months and now they have called on outsiders visiting the region to join up with them during their stay.

It is obvious that Japan is suicide-prone, just as certain people are accident prone. The country has long been fascinated by the subject. The literature is full of it; so is the theater, the films and even television. It is even socially acceptable.

Back Trouble Still Plagues John Kennedy

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. Edward M. Kennedy, a sister-in-law of the President, said today the Chief Executive's back trouble makes it difficult for him to pick up his two-year-old son, John Jr., who weighs about 35 pounds.

Mrs. Kennedy, whose husband was elected to the President's old U.S. Senate seat from Massachusetts last November, was quoted by Look magazine.

She said in an interview her husband is the favorite uncle of the Kennedy children because "he's so big he can roughhouse with all the children."

Mrs. Kennedy, 26, said "the President used to be the same way, but now his back is a problem."

"He can barely pick up his own son," she said.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger asked about the magazine article, said:

"The President's back is improving, but his son is getting heavier."

When newsmen pressed the issue, quoting the President's sister-in-law as saying Kennedy could hardly lift his own son, Salinger said Kennedy didn't try very often because of the back condition.

Although the White House has described the Chief Executive's back condition as improved over the past seven or eight months, Kennedy still avoids playing golf.

BE SURE IT'S BLANK

MIAMI (AP)—A worried Miami wrote a Miami News columnist recently asking what to do about her husband, a professional football player who shouted signals in his sleep all night.

The reply: try firing a blank cartridge and maybe he'll think the game is over.

Agajanian Will Manage Pikes Peak Hill Climb

"J. C. Agajanian, internationally known racing figure, signed a contract today to stage this year's world famed Pikes Peak Hill Climb on July 4." Jim Reilly, chairman of the Pikes Peak Hill Climb Association, announced.

Agajanian, whose car won the 1952 Indianapolis "500", is replacing Lloyd Faddis as managing director of the world's most famous hill climb. Faddis died suddenly last year after many years as head of the Pikes Peak run.

The 12 mile plus run again will be sanctioned by the United States Auto Club, the same group that sanctions Indianapolis and other National Championship races throughout the United States.

Only Championship stock and sports cars are eligible to make the run up Colorado's most famous mountain on Independence Day. Bobby Unser of the famed Unser family is the only driver to have ever made the run in under 13 minutes. He is expected to enter again this year as several Indianapolis drivers.

Agajanian has raced his cars both in the United States and in Europe. He is a member of the board of directors of the United States Auto Club.

J. C., the brother of the pro football's famed "Booing" Ben Agajanian, presented Championship 100-mile races in 1921 and '32 at Centennial Turf Club.

He annually stages the Golden State 100-mile at Sacramento, California. He has presented auto races in Phoenix, Ariz., Springfield, Ill., and Illinois, Ind., as well as throughout California.

Agajanian also stages weekly motorcycle races at Gardena.

Calif. He has presented championship cycle races in Sacramento, Phoenix, Gardena, Indianapolis and Daytona Beach, Fla.

Troy Ruttman became the youngest winner in Indianapolis history when in 1952 at the age of 22, he drove the number 98 Agajanian Special down Victory Lane.

Last year at Indianapolis, Parnelli Jones, the 1961 Indy rookie of the year became the first driver to break the 150 MPH barrier at the Speedway.

Jones became the fastest qualifier in Indianapolis history when he sat on the pole in the number 98 Agajanian - Willard Battery Special at an average of 150.370 MPH. His fastest single lap around the 2 1/2 mile asphalt oval was 150.790 MPH. All four of his laps were better than 150 MPH.

Church Leadership Institute To Be Held at First Methodist

A churchwide Christian Leadership Institute will be the featured activity at the First Methodist Church the week of Feb. 17-22, according to Dr. J. Victor Hopper, chairman of the committee in charge.

Eleven courses will be offered on topics as varied as "The Bible and Archaeology" and "Community Agencies: An Arm of the Church."

Dr. Walter G. Williams, professor of Old Testament at the Iliff School of Theology in Denver, will be instructing the course, "The Bible and Archaeology."

Dr. Williams spent 1961-62 traveling in Palestine, Syria, Lebanon and Egypt and saw first-hand the excavation done in the Holy Land at that time. On his return trip he gave lectures on Biblical archaeology in sixteen theological seminaries in the Far East.

Others coming from out of town to instruct at the institute include Miss Lucille Hester, director of Christian education at First Methodist Church in Pueblo, Mrs. Estelle McKee, director of children's work at the Park Hill Methodist Church in Denver, and Mrs. Taylor McConnell, Denver.

These women along with Mrs. Mary Kellogg, teacher in District

11, are instructors for classes in "Teaching Children." Some of the time in these classes will be devoted to demonstration teaching of children in the kindergarten groups.

Two of the classes are designated, for youth only. "Sex and the Whole Person" will be taught by Mrs. Bernice Russell, educational assistant at St. Paul's Methodist Church in Pueblo. In preparing herself for teaching this course, Mrs. Russell has attended a national laboratory school with key youth workers discussing this subject. "Worship," the other course for youth, will be taught by Rev. Don Bleyle, minister of youth at First Methodist Church.

The church's leadership in community affairs will be treated in "Community Agencies: An Arm of the Church" instructed by Kenneth Olson, executive director of Good Will Industries and the chairman of the Commission on Christian Social Concerns at First Methodist. James Wiant, Scout executive of the Skyline and High Plains District, will be teaching a course to assist leaders, den mothers and committee men in planning scouting activities.

Of interest to parents in the church is the course, "Family Life in the Church" taught by Mrs. Grace Hopper who with her husband represented First Methodist Church at the Fourth National Conference on Family Life last October in Chicago.

Others taking part in the institute are Dr. Ben F. Lehnberg teaching the class, "Christian Beliefs," and Wayne Pabel the course, "Recreation." Ray Overcash, business manager of the First Presbyterian Church, is instructing a course in "Ushering."

Sam Mummery, assisted by Miss Lorene Ballard, the Rev. Paul E. Murphy, the Rev. Sigurd E. Burch, the Rev. J. Randall Brown, the Rev. Harold C. Knudsen, and the Rev. Robert A. Ellis — minister in the Pikes Peak Region, will present the work of the various commissions of the church.

The institute will open Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. with a keynote address by the Rev. Hugh A. Critchett, district superintendent of the Pueblo District.

All other days the classes will meet 7 to 9 p.m. There will be no registration fee, but a free will offering will be taken on Sunday. Members of other churches are welcome to attend.

A nursery will be provided for young children.

Sessions will open at 9 a.m. Thursday. Delegates are to be welcomed by Brig. Gen. William T. Seawell, commandant of cadets. Capt. Alan Coville, third lieutenant course director, will outline aims and procedures of the conference and present a briefing on the overall program.

Texas Businessman Lauds Teachers at PTA Meeting

America owes its progress to its teachers, who have "kept the beacon burning brightly on the sea of ignorance," a Texas businessman told members of the El Paso County Council Parent-Teachers Association Monday night.

"The hopes and fears of all America's progress are wrapped in you," Louie E. Throgmorton of Dallas told the 500 PTA members gathered for their 66th annual Founders' Day Banquet at the Air Force Academy Officers Club.

"The politicians and heart-breaking writers keep shouting that America is second rate. If so, why are the fears of the world wrapped up in Russia and the hopes of the world wrapped in America. Form whence cometh all this progress? The progress which has never been made before by any other nation comes because of our freedom of mind and of the individual. When minds are free miracles will happen," Throgmorton said.

He told the PTA members, most of them teachers, that the teaching profession needs more recognition and less suspicion.

"Teachers need more applause and less apathy; more appreciation and less depreciation; more acceptance and less antagonism. We must lift them from the vacuum of loud chatter."

"The responsibility of the teacher is to prove that tomorrow belongs to the educated, and to show these young people how to make themselves acceptable to this new demand. Knowledge is not enough. They must know how to assimilate and use it to its fullest. Prove to them that tomorrow will belong to that person who has imagination; who has a resolution to do something about it and who will anticipate about it and prepare for change," he said.

"There is a staggering amount of knowledge available for students. They need expert direction to be able to sift the chaff from the grain. There is more knowledge today available than any student can remember and retain. Our ancestors were content with a crop to crop existence, our fathers were content with a job and a pension, but the increase in gadgets and machines and the opportunities for their use plus increased population cry out for the educated to take over."

"The educated are causing all these great things to happen around us each day. The educated are tossing the ball into your hands and you will have to run with it. Only those who are prepared will have the knowledge and the dexterity to run with the ball. They will have the opportunity to receive it," Throgmorton said.

He is vice president and director of public services for the Republic National Life Insurance Company of Dallas.

Accidents Two an Hour In Springs

Accidents were happening at a rate of more than two an hour in Colorado Springs Monday and at one stage city police found themselves three accidents behind.

At least 31 collisions, most of them causing minor damage, were investigated in a 14-hour period.

Things got so hectic between 4 and 5:30 p.m. that every available man was put on accident investigation duty and still police found themselves with three accidents too many. But by 5:30, things had settled down.

Damage was estimated at more than $1,000 to three cars involved in one of the more serious accidents investigated.

Police said a car driven by James P. Wichman, 17, 2401 Willamette St., spun out of control after striking an icy patch at the intersection of Manitou Boulevard and W. Boulder Street and crashed into two parked cars.

Reports said that the Wichman car struck a parked car owned by Frances Leona Passmore, 37, 528 W. Platte Ave., driving it into a parked car owned by Malcolm Anderson, 49, 546 W. Boulder St. The Anderson car was turned sideways by the impact as was the Passmore vehicle.

Wichman's car jumped the curb after the initial impact and then struck the Passmore car a second time inflicting an estimated $750 damage to the vehicle.

Anderson's car was damaged $100 and the Wichman car was declared a total loss. Wichman was given a ticket for careless driving in the accident which happened at 5:35 p.m.

A tractor-trailer rig slid into a parked car owned by William Brown, 43, 3206 N. Arcadia St., causing an estimated $500 damage to the car, police said.

Henry A. Kampf, Manitou Springs, driver of the rig was given a ticket for driving too fast for conditions. There was no damage to the rig. The accident happened on E. Colorado Avenue at about 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. James H. Smith, a passenger in a car driven by her husband, was taken to the Ft. Carson hospital after she complained of internal pain following a two-car collision on Platte Avenue near Institute Avenue.

Police said the Smith car and a car driven by Rita Marie Thomeczek, 19, 1038 3rd St., collided on the slick street. Miss Thomeczek was given a ticket for following too closely. She told police she was unable to stop because of the slick street. Damage totaled $200.

Cars driven by Edith C. Pace, 21, Ent., and Richard Tyler, 23, 1313 E. Bijou St., collided at the intersection of Boulder Avenue and Logan Street about 12:10 p.m. Monday. Damage totaled $350. Miss Pace was given a ticket for taking the right of way at a stop sign.

Falcons Have Two Shots At Return to Winning

Coach Bob Spear's faltering Air Force Academy basketball squad will have two shots at getting into the win column this week as the Falcons host powerful Utah State and then Colorado College in Friday and Saturday games, respectively. Starting time for both encounters is 8 p.m.

Local fans will see in the Utah Aggies, one of the top squads in the Rocky Mountains this year. The Aggies already have a win over powerful Colorado State U., the same team that demolished the Cadets last week, 59-41.

The Aggies are led by junior college transfer Troy Collier, a 6-8 center from Phoenix, and sophomore Wayne Estes, a high scoring 6-6 forward. Friday's encounter will be the first cage meeting for the two schools.

Saturday, the murderous schedule eases somewhat as the Falcons play host to cross-town rival, Colorado College. However, the Tigers are always pesky and hard to handle for the Cadets, and Spear will be fighting the old over-confidence bug for Saturday's tilt. The Falcons have won five of six previous meets with CC.

Last Saturday against national ranked Colorado State, the Cadets turned in a super defensive effort on All-America Bill Green, holding the Rams to 19 points—far below his average. However, the Aggie height show Howe and Boston's Johnny vision teams but neither has any 47-30 beating on the boards, coupled with an 18-point game by however, Howe is ranked first in the Aggie's 6-9 Dave Sigafos cause he has scored 27 goals to be the deciding factors.

All a dejected Spear could manage in summing up the night's activities was, "they de Mahovich of Toronto, Stan Mikaj of Chicago and Murray Oliver of Boston are tied for fourth at the league's most improved club.

Howe Zooms Into NHL Scoring

MONTREAL (AP)—Veteran Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings has zoomed to the top of the scoring race in the National Hockey League.

Howe, playing his 17th NHL season, scored five points last week on two goals and three assists and jumped from fifth to first.

League statistics released today show Howe and Boston's Johnny vision teams but neither has any 47-30 beating on the boards, coupled with an 18-point game by however, Howe is ranked first in the Aggie's 6-9 Dave Sigafos cause he has scored 27 goals to be the deciding factors.

Turmoil in SCL Increases As Trinidad Takes Top Spot

By TOM CUSHMAN

Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer Trinidad, long looked-upon by South Central League opponents as a major threat only during football season, sits atop the conference basketball standings this week as the state's southernmost AAA circuit continues its crazy-quilt winter campaign.

The Miners ascended to the heights as Central's Cinderella ride turned into a pumpkin over the past two weekends. The Wildcats had been rocking along at the head of the pack with eight straight victories until Trinidad delivered the first blow a week ago Saturday and Wasson followed with a second stiff punch in Pueblo last Friday.

The weekend events did nothing but increase the turmoil in the first division. The top four teams are separated by only a single game on the loss side and there are no fewer than three head-on clashes coming up in the stretch run.

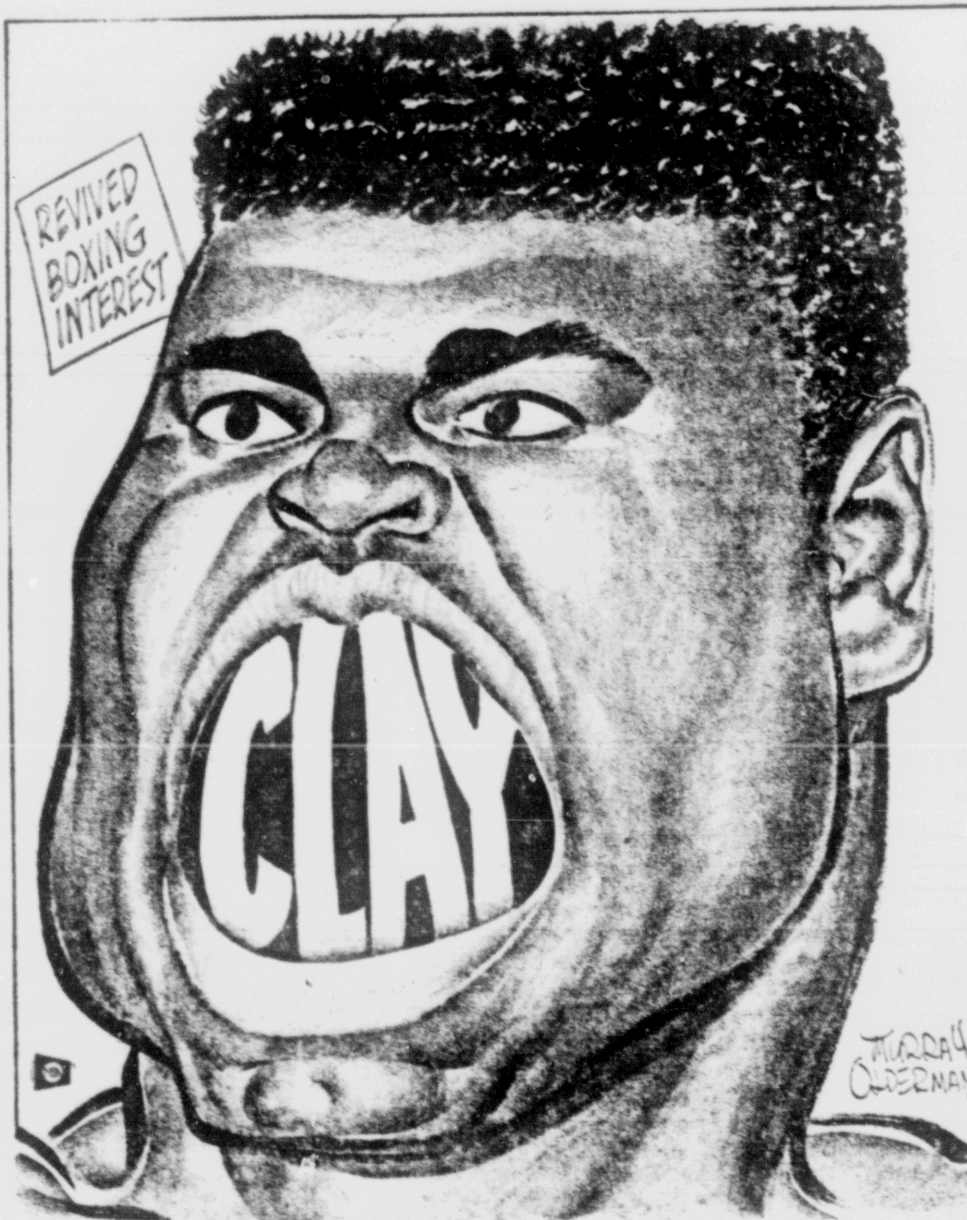

The first comes Thursday night at Trinidad when the Miners host Pueblo South and if an earlier battle was any indication, Trinidad's league lead appears short-lived. South scuttled the Miners 64-32 in Pueblo three weeks ago and will be favored to prevail again. Chances are the Colts will have a much stiffer struggle this time, however, as Trinidad has yet to lose on its home floor this season.

Central and Wasson, the other two contenders, meet second division teams but neither has any 47-30 beating on the boards, coupled with an 18-point game by however, Howe is ranked first in the Aggie's 6-9 Dave Sigafos cause he has scored 27 goals to be the deciding factors.

All a dejected Spear could manage in summing up the night's activities was, "they de Mahovich of Toronto, Stan Mikaj of Chicago and Murray Oliver of Boston are tied for fourth at the league's most improved club.

The only other weekend game Mar. 9, when South and Central Central, and South, while Centennial takes on Central, Wasson and Trinidad. Dick Westbay's Wasson team could very well decide which of the second division teams, Palmer and Centennial, will have a shot at the title. Other clashes between top contenders opportunities to stir up furor last week and still cannot afford tenders are scheduled for Mar. 1, their trouble in the closing weeks a stumble, but the Thunderbirds when Wasson hosts Trinidad, and of the race. In each of the three previous starts against the Orediggers, CC has flirted with success for a time before folding in the stretch run.

Mines currently boasts a 6-3 Rocky Mountain Conference record, good enough for third place. The Orediggers may be a bit giddy with success this evening after gaining a split against Adams State at Alamosa last weekend, usually a rather strenuous task. The Miners hopes of retaining the title they staggered to a year ago are becoming increasingly dim, however, and they cannot afford another defeat tonight.

Tops Schayes

In Rebounding

NEW YORK (AP)—Officially Bill Russell of the champion Boston Celtics ousted Dolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nationals as the all-time rebound leader in the National Basketball Association last week with a career total of 11,041 to 11,005.

Unofficially the veteran Schayes, now in his 15th NBA season, still leads. Why? Because no rebound records were kept in Schayes' first two seasons—1948-49 and 1949-50. All of Russell's grabs have been officially recorded. He is in his seventh season with the NBA.

League statistics released today show Russell still second in rebounds for the current season with an average of 23.5 per game to 24.1 for Wilt Chamberlain of San Francisco. Chamberlain, now in his fourth NBA season, has a career total of 7,386 rebounds.

Chamberlain kept his usual No. 1 spot in scoring with 2,732 points although his average slipped from 36.9 to 45.3.

Spartans Need Victory To Regain PPL Lead

By CHARLIE DREUX

Two-time winner of the Pikes Peak League crown, Salda, which received a 55-46 thrashing from spirited Harrison last Friday, seeks to recover this week from its downhill plunge and a second berth in the loop standings.

The Spartans were knocked out of first place for the first time this season and now are tied with four clubs for the second spot. Widefield presently holds the top spot.

Friday night Don Schmidt's Spartans entertain highly regarded Academy High while Widefield is engaged in non-league play as they host Pueblo Catholic. In other PPL games this Friday, Harrison travels across town to tangle with Manitou Springs. Cheyenne Mountain endeavors to get back into the first division when they battle Florence, and Fountain is the guest of winless Leadville.

Saturday night the Spartans host Canon Abbey in a non-league tilt.

In other league games last week, Widefield eased by Fountain, 50-44. Manitou Springs nipped Cheyenne in an overtime, 36-35. Academy High won handily over Leadville, 61-43, and Florence whacked Fountain Valley, 72-19, in a non-leaguer.

Altho the Harrison cagers gave way to Salda in the height department, the Panthers managed to get the rebounding edge on their guests to score a nifty upset over the PPL defending champs that put Widefield atop the league standings.

Fred Stephens paced the Panthers with 15 points while teammates Tom McClure and Lloyd Crawford battled the towering Spartans for control of the boards as the local team won in rebounding. Even the Panthers put the lid on prolific scorer David Lantz in the first half, the 6-5 Spartan still managed to cash in 22 points and snatch 16 rebounds. Lantz scored 10 points in the last two minutes of play as the Spartans tried desperately to overcome a deficit.

With two minutes to go, Lantz was forced out of the game via five fouls, but before he left he poured in 10 quick points that put the Spartans within closer range. Drew Aspegren, who normally scores in the double figures, had to settle for five points scored at the charity lane.

Harry Horton's cagers simply outplayed their taller opponents as they racked up an early lead in the first period, 12-4, and continued leading until the gun sounded the victory for the Harrison crew.

Cheyenne lost their home game in the last second as Mustang Steve Kohl fired a shot to beat the buzzer of the first overtime period and also the hosts, 56-55. It was the Indians that secured the Spartans with their first defeat of the season at the Salda gym two weeks ago, but Gene Ward's cagers just couldn't combat the fired-up, tho sometimes erratic Mustangs.

Cheyenne's Bill Raines dumped in a whopping 27 points for a losing cause, hitting 11 field goals and five free throws to boost his total output for league play to 116 points in six games to lead the loop in individual scoring.

Ward's team had a host of floor mistakes and had trouble controlling the ball. With six seconds left, Raines went in for a lay up shot and missed. But he was fouled in the doing and went to the charity lane for a one-and-one situation. Raines sank the first shot giving the Indians a 55-54 margin, but missed the second. The Mustangs took control of the rebound and with one second remaining Kohl made a 15-foot shot that won the game for Manitou.

The Kadets of Academy High wasted little time pasting winless Leadville and presented Dick Kuhn's squad with its sixth league loss. Flash John Julius, last year's all conference guard, raked in 16 points to spearhead the "Big Blue" triumph and remained in contention in the individual scoring race. Julius lifted Palmer took an early lead Monday night when high scorer Chuck Reinking popped in a rebound shot at 5:56 of the opening period. Wasson waited less than four minutes to bounce back as Bill Mitchell tallied with 9:14.

Springs' Chris Haigler, Miss Hanlon on U.S. Team

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—The new U.S. figure skating queen, pretty 17-year-old Lorraine Hanlon, surprisingly said her performance in winning the women's crown Sunday at the national championships was "disappointing."

Miss Hanlon, who was second to Barbara Roles Pursley last year, fell down once during her free skating exhibition. "It was stupid," she said of her fall.

But she impressed the five judges at the four-day Sports Arena event with her display, which included a double lutz and two consecutive double axels, to earn three firsts, a third, and a fourth.

She began the free skating with a lead attained in the compulsory figures.

On the other hand, runner-up Christine Haigler, 15, Colorado Springs, was very pleased with her showing in the free skating. She was in third place behind Kar-en Howland of Seattle, after the compulsory figures judging. Miss Howland wound up third in overall standings.

Miss Hanlon and Haigler were automatically placed on the U.S. team that will compete for the North American championships in Feb. 14-16 in Vancouver, B.C., and the compulsory figures, but he the world championships in Cor-fell twice during the free skating.

The two girls and other winners at the nationals also became the favorites for the U.S. team to compete in the 1964 Winter Olympics.

Other winners in the nationals were senior men's champ Tommy Lutz, 17, of Hershey, Pa., who put a dazzling free skating performance that brought the crowd to its feet, and the gold dance pair of Bostoner Sally Schantz and Stan Urban of Buffalo, N.Y.

Monty Hoyt of Denver, defending men's champion, was best in the compulsory figures, but he fell twice during the free skating.

to knock him down to third in final ratings. It was the first time young Hoyt had fallen in seven nationals. Scotty Allen of Sparks, N.J., was second.

Miss Schantz and Urban placed ahead of defending champions Yvonne Littlefield and Peter Betts of Los Angeles.

The senior pairs event was won by Judianne and Jerry Fotherin of Tacoma, Wash.

The U.S. figure skating team is in the year-by-year process of rebuilding its world championship hopes since the tragic crash of February 1961 when 18 team members lost their lives in a plane crash.

Illinois' Title Path Blocked

By GARY KALE
UPI Sports Writer

Wisconsin has thrown an iron barrier in the path of Illinois' march to a Big Ten Conference basketball title.

The Badgers, playing with five starters through most of the game, surprised fourth-ranked Illinois, 84-77, Monday night to ruin the Illini perfect record in league competition.

Wisconsin's starting five scored all the Badger points and it wasn't until Ken Siebel fouled out with 6:44 remaining that the winners were forced to seek bench help for the first and only time in the contest.

Siebel scored a team high of 26 points as he led a new delayed offense that coach John Erickson came up with for the Illinois game. Jack Brens tallied 25 points for Wisconsin, which took a 44-32 lead at halftime and was threatened only once thereafter.

Illinois, sparked by Bill Small's game high of 29 points, closed the gap to 60-58 with 10:38 remaining before bowing to the ironman pressure of Wisconsin.

The loss left Illinois only a game ahead of second-place Ohio State in the league standings, a lead that could well be erased when the Illini meet Indiana Saturday and Ohio State plays Michigan Durham, N.C., in the Houston Colts' chain this year.

Former American League infielder Billy Goodman will manage Durham, N.C., in the Houston Colts' chain this year.

Controversy Flares Up at Oregon State

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—A controversy flared today over whether Oregon State University has discriminated against Negro basketball players.

A state legislator asserted there never had been a Negro on a team coached by Amory T. Gill, who has been basketball coach at Oregon State 35 years, was not available immediately for comment.

State Rep. Berkeley Lent, Portland Democrat, told the House Education Committee Monday he wants to table the bill he had proposed earlier to prevent Oregon schools from playing the University of Mississippi on the ground that Mississippi discriminates against Negroes.

"It has come to my attention that we have situations in our own back yard that need correction before we can tell the University of Mississippi what to do," Lent said.

Lent said Gill's explanation was that no Negro has turned out who was good enough to make the team.

Controversy Flares Up at Oregon State

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—A controversy flared today over whether Oregon State University has discriminated against Negro basketball players.

A state legislator asserted there never had been a Negro on a team coached by Amory T. Gill, who has been basketball coach at Oregon State 35 years, was not available immediately for comment.

State Rep. Berkeley Lent, Portland Democrat, told the House Education Committee Monday he wants to table the bill he had proposed earlier to prevent Oregon schools from playing the University of Mississippi on the ground that Mississippi discriminates against Negroes.

"It has come to my attention that we have situations in our own back yard that need correction before we can tell the University of Mississippi what to do," Lent said.

Lent said Gill's explanation was that no Negro has turned out who was good enough to make the team.

*COMPARE GEICO RATES WITH BUREAU RATES

GEICO RATES IN COLORADO ARE 30% lower than Bureau Rates for the Collision and Comprehensive coverages and 25% for the Liability coverages. Bureau Rates are the rates for automobile insurance filed with State Insurance Departments by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters.

HOW THE "SAFE DRIVER PLAN" AFFECTS THE COST OF YOUR AUTO INSURANCE

GEICO DOES NOT USE THE "SAFE DRIVER PLAN"—However, most companies charging Bureau Rates do use the "Safe Driver Plan" in Colorado which requires that the rate established as the Bureau Rate be increased as much as 150% and reduced by only 15% depending upon the driving record of the insured. Remember, GEICO does not use the "Safe Driver Plan" and when you insure with GEICO, your rates are not increased because of your driving record as is required under the "Safe Driver Plan."

NOW COMPARE DIFFERENCES FROM THE BUREAU RATE!

	BUREAU RATE WITH "SAFE DRIVER PLAN"	GEICO RATE WITHOUT "SAFE DRIVER PLAN"
Liability	15% reduction to 150% increase	25% reduction
Medical Payments	15% reduction to 150% increase	25% reduction
Collision	15% reduction to 150% increase	30% reduction
Comprehensive	No reduction or increase	30% reduction
Uninsured Motorists	No reduction or increase	25% reduction
Towing and Labor	No reduction or increase	30% reduction

(GEICO also gives you the usual additional savings of 10% for COMPACT CARS and further... substantial savings when MORE THAN ONE CAR is insured.)

BEFORE YOU BUY AUTO INSURANCE ELSEWHERE, or renew your present policy, it will pay you to check GEICO benefits and savings. You will receive exact GEICO rates for your car, plus complete information on how GEICO saves you money, the broad protection you get, and GEICO's country-wide personal claim service.

Looking At Hollywood

By HEDDA HOPPER

(© 1963 By the Chicago Tribune)

REX HARRISON'S ACTING BRILLIANT IN 'CLEOPATRA'

HOLLYWOOD. — Joe Mankiewicz, before jetting to New York and Spain to wind up "Cleopatra," told me the old girl has been slumped down to four hours and he and Darryl Zanuck are working well together. And when will we see it? "If you find out," said Joe. "Let me know. It's unfortunate that the emotional upsets turned the picture into a circus. There are three brilliant performances — Rex Harrison is great."

"But he got no publicity," said I. "All he did was go off and get married."

"So did I," said Joe, "and with luck it'll keep my name out of print." Mankiewicz, in a nostalgic mood, reminded me it was exactly 35 years ago that we met. "In those days movie people were different. They were human beings. Now they're electronic. I don't dig 'em any more."

One of the human beings Joe had in mind was writer-producer Louis Lighton, who passed away in Majorca, Spain, a few days ago. He was responsible for such films as "Wings," "It," "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," "Captains Courageous," "Test Pilot." When Louis left this town 15 years ago, the Klieg lights dimmed a little. After visiting Majorca a year or so ago, I wrote about him in the column. In a letter to his good friend Mel Shauer, Louis said: "I've had a flood of fan mail — not as you might expect, from old friends as much as from complete strangers, some of them quite eloquent. Hedda mentioned a few of the pictures, and in the letters there was an earnest feeling — almost like a cry of pain sometimes about what had happened to the making of pictures."

Clifton Webb, home after delicate vascular surgery in Houston, Tex., tells me that one of the greatest experiences of his life was meeting that truly dedicated Dr. Michael DeBakey, who invented the rare heart operation. People come from all over the world, and he performs 12 to 14 surgeries daily. While Dr. DeBakey had Clifton on the table, he also removed his appendix and corrected a hernia Webb didn't know he had.

The motion picture "Marilyn," taken from the films 20th made of Monrow, will be cut in April. I predict it will make so much money it will help that studio get back into production. John Meredith, a fine photographer, has hundreds of photographs of Marilyn, including many beautiful nudes, but will sell none. Says he: "She was my friend and you don't sell friendship."

Suzanne Pleshette laughs off predictions that she'll marry Troy Donahue with: "He's charming, polite, and a good actor; but we're not about to be married. We're both busy with our careers." Suzanne looks like Liz Taylor used to. When she followed Anne Bancroft in "The Miracle Worker" on Broadway, she developed muscles like a prize fighter's during those wrestling scenes with Patty Duke. Took a year to get her arms back to normal. She loves Warner's and they return the affection. This girl can act.

Veterinarian Has Few Patients Call

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—A business office representative at the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company was trying to help a customer—listed as a doctor—determine who made a long-distance call for which he was charged.

Dummy Bourbon Fifth Is Taken by Burglar

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Even being a burglary victim sometime has its laughs.

All that real whiskey on the shelves, and he had to go and steal a dummy fifth—full of bourbon-colored water.

Teen-Agers Plead Guilty In Court to Drag Racing

Two teen-agers Monday in Municipal Court pleaded guilty to charges of drag racing and were each fined $50.

Judge Allan Asher told the two youths, Jack Leeman, 16, 2543 E. Boulder, and John Huntsman, 19, 110 Easy St., Security, that one half of the fine would be suspended on the stipulation that there be no other violations of moving nature within one year's time.

He also pointed out to the youths the seriousness of their actions and told them their drivers licenses could possibly be taken away from them for a one-year period.

Dusan Samardic, 25, 1225 N. Tejon St., pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge and was fined $50 by the judge who told grounds that he not be back in the man $25 would be suspended if he would be willing to give up charge, and gave McClellan a license to Court Clerk Donn Chapman for a period of 20 days.

Samardic, who said he had been driving for 15 years, remarked "I'll give it away."

Judge Asher looked over the man's record and reminded him he had had five violations of driving nature since July and asked him if he intended giving up driving entirely.

"OK, I'll try it one more time," Samardic said, and agreed to give up his license for the 20 days.

Leland Ross, 37, of Pueblo, was fined $175 after pleading guilty to a charge of injury to city property and was given a 10-day stay of execution. He also pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge and was fined $10.

Bill for Mental Retarded Centers Approved

DENVER (AP)—A bill calling for establishment of two community centers for mentally retarded and seriously handicapped persons was passed unanimously by the Colorado House Monday.

Principal sponsor of the bill was Rep. Kathleen Littler, R-Greeley.

The measure now goes to the Senate.

It aims to provide a study program and pilot demonstration projects on treating handicapped persons in their own communities.

The measure carries a $60,000 appropriation to the Dept. of Institutions.

Another bill given final House approval and sent to the Senate would halt payments of unemployment compensation to barbers and securities salesmen paid only by commissions and temporary or part time employees of charitable or religious organizations.

The bill was given final House approval 54-8.

Before final passage Rep. William O. Lennox, R-Colorado Springs, said it would affect only 24 barbershops in the state and that most of the individuals affected are employed at armed forces installations in the Colorado Springs area. Lennox estimated that barbers working at the service shops are earning between $7,500 and $12,000 annually.

Farms May Have More Than One Mortgage

WASHINGTON (AP)—The old concept of one mortgage per farm family may be outmoded, according to Marion K. Matthews, deputy director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farm Credit Association's Land Bank Service.

Matthews says advances in agricultural technology have accelerated farmers' borrowing to the point that agricultural debt has increased more than three times since World War II. It now amounts to over $25 billion.

Navy's Oldest Ship Is Due for Rotation

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—The grand old lady of the Pacific is the Fleet Marine Service Force's older Cimarron.

"She's the Navy's oldest ship in continuous active service—she will be 24 in March.

The Cimarron served in every major Pacific campaign in World War II and was active throughout the Korean War. During the Korean campaign alone, the Cimarron pumped 115 million gallons of fuel to U.S. Navy vessels.

She is due for rotation from the Seventh Fleet after another tour in Far East waters.

Cooks in her galleys and at Pearl Harbor Naval Base are beginning to bake the old lady a cake. They feel she deserves one.

America Needs Common Market Journalist States

America needs the Common Market countries and needs them badly, a noted journalist told members attending Town Hall Monday at the Fine Arts Center.

Speaking on "America's Stake in the Common Market," Frank Gervasi said that the United States must trade and Europe is the handiest of places.

"If we don't join it (i.e. Common Market)," the speaker said, "it could become a cartel against us, and so we have to trade."

Gervasi said he did not think the United States had wasted its patrimony in Europe, but felt it was now high time this was repaid. "Love is a two-way street," he said, "and we need them now and we need them badly."

The speaker pointed to the fact that Europe's economy is growing twice or three times as fast as America's, but added that the Common Market countries had been urged to build for the future by the United States.

"It is the money we sent to Europe," Gervasi said, "that saved Europe."

"But we got it all back, or most of it, spent right here in this country for goods," he added.

The journalist and former Collier's editor took his audience

Students Suspended For Wild Hair Style

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Thirty-five pupils at nearby North Hills High School were suspended for one week Monday for what a school official said were wild hair styles and tight-fitting clothes.

Supervising Principal Edward D. Kruse said the pupils violated the school's 1957 grooming code and "gave no heed to our warnings."

"Most of the boys," Kruse said, "had full heads of hair that were almost pompadours—overly great and combed in styles that attract attention."

"Some girls," he said, "had types of dyed hair that looked just as if they dipped their heads into buckets of dye and didn't care what color the dye was."

France Is Still Missing From NATO Councils

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Special Correspondent
LONDON (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization has everything it needs in France except the French.

"It's a little like running a boat with the anchor down," says a NATO source.

The heart and nerve center of NATO are in France and probably will remain there indefinitely. That is where headquarters is, where planning is done, where the NATO Council sits.

Right now, France's major contribution to NATO is geography. The French delegate sits in the council, but that's about all he does.

The Atlantic crisis provoked by France's blunt rejection of Britain's bid to enter the European Economic Community or Common Market turned a spotlight on NATO's problems with France. NATO sources say French attitudes hamper planning, that French failure to cooperate in defense systems and French insistence on acting exclusively of the other allies can cause more harm. Military planning will go on, even if NATO in effect must operate virtually without France. But recent events pose new dangers for NATO.

A split among the six Common Market nations over France's veto of Britain might make the French "empty chair" a full reality, at least for a time, and that would weaken the alliance.

"I think it would be a disaster if we should divide," President Kennedy has said. "The forces in the world hostile to us are powerful."

He has responded softly to De Gaulle's thunderbolts, but he has made it clear any division between the United States and Europe is a serious danger to Western security.

The possibility of a weakening is painfully present. France's veto brings grave economic problems to Britain. She may feel obliged to review her NATO commitments. Britain's three divisions—55,000 men plus support troops—in Germany cost her in the neighborhood of $200 million a year.

France herself has made no move to restore to NATO the two divisions withdrawn in pre-De Gaulle days for the Algerian crisis. She has withdrawn her dozen ships from NATO's Mediterranean force. Her contribution now amounts to two divisions in Germany, and that's it.

NATO is still nearly six divisions short of the 30 which planners hold necessary to proceed with the forward defense program for Europe.

While De Gaulle insists "the Atlantic Alliance is absolutely necessary," he provides its biggest headaches.

He rejects integration, which means blending defense forces under a single command. That suggests to De Gaulle a surrender of sovereignty. On that issue France caused the collapse of the European Defense Community in 1954.

De Gaulle has refused to permit stockpiling of atomic weapons in France. Striking-force squadrons must be located in Germany and Britain.

De Gaulle rejects Kennedy's proposal for a multinational nuclear force. He wants his own atomic striking force. His idea is getting to be known Europe by the curious name of "the little deterrent."

Eventually, in De Gaulle's words, France's deterrent "will have the somber and terrible capability of destroying in a few seconds millions and millions of men."

De Gaulle says the Cuban crisis showed that America's nuclear weapons are ready to go into action for "something other than the defense of Europe and nobody can say 'where, when, how and to what extent the American nuclear weapons would be employed to defend Europe.'"

France's policy is not to turn French weapons over to a multinational force under foreign command, but "to construct and if necessary use atomic forces on our own—without refraining cooperation, technical or strategic, if it is desired by France's allies."

By the end of this year, De

Gaule intends to have on wheels an atom bomb about three times the size of the one dropped on Hiroshima in 1945. It will be carried by Mirage IV planes, which need U.S. refueling planes.

By 1966 De Gaulle hopes to have 50 Mirage IVs. He plans a force of solid fuel missiles of 900 to 1,200-mile range, and eventually underwater missiles with three submarines.

It would do no good, NATO sources say, to deny France the U.S. KC135 refueling planes, or to make other threats against De Gaulle. Such actions would only serve to underscore De Gaulle's complaint that the United States wants to dominate Europe.

Nor can the United States threaten to withdraw its 425,000 troops from Europe. De Gaulle knows Washington would not leave Europe stripped. The very thought frightens West Germans. Even now Germans express worry about reaction in Congress to French-German reconciliation, in the light of France's attitudes toward the United States and the alliance.

So far as military men are concerned, the 14-nation alliance has been a miraculous success since its creation in 1949. They are ready to sit it out and carry on business as usual.

But France is a large chunk of Europe.

De Gaulle's impact, in the opinion of many responsible Europeans, has created a situation which arouses resentment in the United States and which could generate pressure for a review of American commitments to Europe.

U.S. Atom Ship Will Use Dutch Ports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Netherlands have signed an agreement for the nuclear-powered cargo ship Savannah to use Dutch ports, the Atomic Energy Commission said Monday.

The announcement, made jointly with the maritime administration, said the agreement was reached at The Hague Feb. 6.

It is the third such agreement. The first was with Greece, announced last June 12, the second with West Germany, last Nov. 29.

Equal Tax Cuts Seen by Love For 1963 Term

DENVER (UPI)—Gov. John A. Love said Monday the administration's bill to cut taxes on 1963 earnings probably would amount to a 15 per cent reduction in the lower income brackets.

Love reiterated that the bill, which will be introduced some time during this session of the legislature, would propose a tax cut of about $8 million, the same as the cut on 1962 income which was enacted last month.

The reduction for persons with high income would be less than 15 per cent, he said, but the lower bracket cut would remain at 15. If the cut was 15 per cent for all, as it was on the earlier bill, the dollar amount of the reduction would be likely to run considerably over $8 million, because the state's economy is growing every year and personal income is expected to be higher this year than last.

Love also said today that any tax reforms which might be incorporated in the bill would have to fall within the $8 million reduction figure. "I wouldn't want any reforms that would make the total tax cut over that amount," he said.

He said it was possible that the Legislature might reinstate a state tax deduction for corporations for federal tax payments. The deduction was eliminated when former Gov. Steve McNichols instituted his tax program in 1959.

But Love said he preferred to wait another year to put the deduction back in, to give time for a full study and implementation of constitutional Amendment No. 3, passed in the November election, which will revise the state's income tax structure to bring it more in line with the federal program.

Love said if the reduction were reinstated, the tax rate for corporations would have to be raised to compensate for any losses.

"We can't stand the loss of revenue that would result if we put the deduction back in," he said.

MEXICO CITY — Mexico will revise tobacco import controls.

By GWEN GIBSON

WASHINGTON — If President Kennedy calls for a showing of physical skill for his White House staff, the surprise entry could be Kennedy's own, well-rounded press secretary — plucky Pierre Salinger — who keeps agile in spite of a well-known penchant for Cuban cigars and French wines.

Salinger's generous 5-foot-9, 183-pound frame belies the fact that he once was a college athlete of some renown and a World War II hero whose swimming prowess helped him earn the Navy-Marine Corps Medal — the same decoration JFK won for his PT-109 adventure.

New facts about the youthful Salinger's robust past creep out occasionally. At a recent press conference where physical fitness was under discussion, Salinger revealed that during his days as a history major at the University of San Francisco he entered two cross-country runs in consecutive years.

"There were 11 entrants in each race," Salinger recalled, puffing on an American cigar (his favorite, 40-cent Cuban Uppmans are not currently available). "The distance was 7 1/2 miles and in both years I got the 10th place ribbon."

"I must say, in fairness, that the 11th man in both instances fell out of the running and didn't finish," Salinger conceded.

The White House press secretary had been questioned about a recent exchange between Marine Corps commandant Gen. David M. Shoup and President Kennedy. Shoup sent JFK a recently uncovered, 54-year-old executive order issued by President Theodore Roosevelt setting forth physical fitness standards for Marine officers. "TR" called on his leathernecks to walk 5 miles in no more than three days, among other tests.

Kennedy asked Shoup to set up a similar endurance exam for some of today's Marine officers. As an afterthought, Kennedy noted that Roosevelt had laid down health standards for members of his family, cabinet and White House staff as well as the Marines.

"If the health and stamina of the modern Marine is equivalent to that of his antecedents, I will ask Mr. Salinger to look into the matter personally and give me a report on the fitness of the White House staff," Kennedy said.

The White House staff, aside from Salinger, could acquire itself in any small scale Olympics. Some of the outstanding athletes around the President, to mention just a few, include Kenneth O'Donnell, an ex-Harvard football captain, tall and shapely Barbara Camarickian, a secretary to Salinger who's a whiz on the tennis court, young Jill Cowan of New York City, another Salinger secretary, an expert swimmer and modern dance wizard, and special adviser McGeorge Bundy, about 5 cups after cooking, a cup of hominy grits should yield about rides bicycles whenever possible. 4 1-3 cups.

Salinger was Khrushchev's guest at the Russian premier's villa on the Moscow River last summer. Khrushchev took Salinger skeet shooting and the press secretary maneuvered only one hit in six tries. His host grabbed the gun and downed eight clay pigeons in a row.

Salinger was asked if he has given any thought to what his move will be if called on soon by Kennedy for a demonstration of brawn and vigor.

He ducked the question with typical agility. "I don't want the impression to get around that this is a completely ludicrous proposition," he said.

A cup of farina should yield about 5 cups after cooking; a cup of hominy grits should yield about 4 1-3 cups.
